House Tax Study Leads To Chairman

Consider Rumors Of Influence By Rep. King

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—The congressional committee making a many-sided investigation of federal tax scandals went behind closed doors today to take a look at activities of its own chairman.

The House ways and means subcommittee probing irregularities of the internal revenue bureau decided to look further into rumors Rep. King (D-Calif) had brought "improper influences" to bear on certain California tax cases.

King said the rumors were false, and called the full inquiry himself.

The committee expects to quickly get back to its investigation of the internal revenue bureau, shaken again yesterday by the resignatoin of another top official.

Daniel A. Bolich stepped aside as assistant internal revenue commissioner. He said he was quitting because of his health.

His resignation was the third among the bureau's top level officials since last June. It came at a time when the committee reportedly had him under investigation.

There were those other developments:

"Shocking System"

1. Senator Williams (R-Del) announced that Attorney General McGrath had assured him Charles O'Clare would not be fired as assistant U. S. attorney in San Francisco for telling senators there was "a shocking system of corruption" in the San Francisco internal revenue bureau.

2. An official announcement impended involving the office of the Detroit collector internal revenue—the nature of which was not disclosed.

Bolich's resignation was announced by Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap, following a hurried secret conference with the King subcommittee.

Bolich was one of two assistant commissioners under former Commissioner George J. Schoeneman, who resigned in June because of the physical demands of office after 42 years in government service.

Bolich was reassigned at his own request in August to the management staff of Schoeneman's successor, Dunlap. He gave ill health as the reason for the requested change in duties.

Last month Deputy Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey resigned suddenly for reasons of health following a heart attack.

Following Bolich's resignation, Adrian W. Dewind, counsel for the King subcommittee, said Bolich had been under investigation "for the past several months" by committee and internal revenue investigators.

"The investigation will continue," Dewind told newsmen.

More Names

A witness at yesterday's closed hearing into the rumors about King brought in the names of Senators Cain (R-Wash) and Morse (R-Ore).

Philip Angell, an attorney for the federal home loan bank board of San Francisco, told reporters that a memorandum prepared for Cain and Morse apparently found its way onto the hands of T. Lamar Caudle, fired last week by President Truman as justice department tax prosecutor.

Angell said the memorandum appeared to be the basis for a

WINTER WALLOPS CLEVELAND. Although a heavy snowfall hit Cleveland, slowing traffic and forcing suburban schools to close, 10-year-old David Henderson seems to be enjoying the white stuff on top of a buried automobile. The snow, heaviest since the city's' "big snow" of last November, measured a total of 13 inches at the Cleveland Hopkins airport.

"Sordid Big Business" Refuted

Big Time Football Defended By Coaches

(Picture on Sports Page)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 — (AP) — Some college athletic leaders were quick today to refute a New York judge's accusation that football and basketball are sordid big business deals.

But a committee of seven college presidents, meeting in Washington, agreed "something must be done" to remove whatever evils are in the intercollegiate athletic program.

And in Chicago, Hugh Willett, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said a substantial majority of the organization's 320 members supported a 12-point program for tighter controls on college athletics.

Pulls No Punches

Basketball and football came under the fire of General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit in a 41-page statement issued yesterday shortly before the jurist sentenced a basketball fixer and five former players from three New York universities to prison terms and gave nine other ex-players suspended sentences.

"Commercialism and over-emphasis in intercollegiate football and basketball are rampant throughout the country," said Judge Streit. He said the nation's schools are courting an "atomic athletic scandal."

The jurist blamed college authorities, alumni and coaches—labelling as "despicable" the attitude of many big-time coaches. He advised the schools to clean house in a hurry or have Congress or the states do it for them.

Judge Streit singled out Oklahoma, Texas, Texas A. & M.,

Cage "Fixer" Sollazzo Gets 8-16 Years

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(AP)—A basketball fixer was sentenced to a long prison term yesterday by a judge who called college basketball and football a sordid big business. Five former college players also drew jail terms, and nine others received suspended sentences.

General Sessions Judge Samuel S. Streit sentenced gambler Salvatore Sollazzo to eight to 16 years in prison for spending $22,000 to bribe basketball stars of big time Madison Square Garden games.

Streit called Sollazzo 'a cool, calculating and cunning weasel, who preys on the gullible and unsuspecting."

Five former players drew jail terms as conspirators in the biggest scandal in the history of intercollegiate sports.

One of them, Edward Gard, a Sollazzo lieutenant from Long Island University, got an indeterminate sentence up to three years.

Other former players and their sentences were Sherman White of L.I.U., one year; Edward Warner and Alvin Roth of City College, New York, and Harvey Schaff of New York University, six months each.

Schaff broke down at the sentence, his tall frame sagging at the knees. Later, however, he left the courtroom without aid.

Judge Streit called the players "mature young men, all over 22 years of age, who should have known the iniquity of their conduct."

The court suspended sentence on Adolph Biggs, Richard Feurtado, Nathan Miller, and Leroy Smith, all of L.I.U., and Norman Mager, Irwin Dambrot, Herbert Cohen, Floyd Layne and Edward Roman, all of City College.

Cases against 16 other players are pending in the big cage scandal, in which players rigged points in games for the benefit of gamblers.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said "the itch for easy money" led the young men to sell out their schools. Judge Streit, however, saw the scandal as evidence of widespread corruption in the college athletic setup.

Bribery such as unearthed on the basketball courts, Judge Streit went on, begins when schools bid for athletes.

Truman Talk Tonight To Be Political

Addresses Democratic Women; Not Expected To Disclose Plans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 — (AP)—President Truman tonight makes a frankly political bid for support of his administration's course, probably with special emphasis upon foreign policy and peace aims.

The American Broadcasting Company arranged to carry the President's scheduled 10 p.m. EST speech before the Women's National Democratic Club.

Mr. Truman's speech called for a flight here from his Key West, Fla., vacation spot.

It seemed unlikely to shed any light on Mr. Truman's personal political plans for the future. But in the absence of any word from the President, potential candidates for the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination continued to bob up.

Rayburn Mentioned

The latest was House speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, advanced by Senator Monroney (D-Okla) as a Democrat who would make 'a strong candidate with a liberal record" if the President doesn't run again.

Monroney told reporters he has assumed the President won't seek

Hope Blood Plasma Strike Averted

Mediators Reach Agreement; Needs Union Approval

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—Mediators early today reached an agreement which they hope will halt a strike threatening to pinch off the flow of lifegiving blood plasma to the armed forces.

Terms of the agreement still must be approved by members of the CIO-United Chemical Workers Union, who had threatened to quit work at the Sharp and Dohme blood processing plant in West Point, Pa.

A vote will be taken at a meeting called for tonight in Philadelphia.

Terms were not announced by exhausted mediators, who met for 16 straight hours trying to work out a solution.

E. M. Sconyers, of the Federal Mediation Service, announced that the panel consisting of five company, 15 union and three government members, arrived at what they considered a satisfactory agreement shortly before dawn.

Officials Alarmed

The threat to the already inadequate supply of plasma alarmed officials. Some said here that if the strike developed, it would shut off about one quarter of the flow of blood plasma to the armed forces.

A mediation official in Philadelphia said, however, it would threaten the Army's entire plasma program.

Conditions were considered so serious that federal conciliators trying to stave off the strike by laboratory workers said if a settlement had not been reached by noon today, they had planned to ask the White House to step in—presumably with a fact finding board or other temporizing device.

They still may take this step if mediation agreement is not approved tonight.

First indication that the strike might not develop came late yesterday from the American Red Cross.

Reds in New Accusations

Hope for End of Korean War Suffers Setback

TOKYO, Nov. 20—(AP)—An abrupt top level switch in Communist truce aims and charges of atrocities today dampened hopes for an end to Korean fighting before Christmas.

Official Red broadcasts accused the Allies of killing 17,000 prisoners of war, killing or wounding 14,500 North Korean civilians, and shipping out 1,000 Reds for atomic experiments.

U.N. spokesmen called the human atom bomb test story "pure fabrication." They made no immediate comment on other charges

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquqarters said Tuesday "there is considerable evidence" that Reds have killed about 6,000 American prisoners of war.

Almost simultaneously with the atrocity charges, Chinese and North Korean foreign ministers virtually echoed a four-point Korean armistice proposal laid down by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky before the United Nations Assembly in Paris Nov. 8.

Rejected

Allied truce negotiators already have rejected all four points. If they should come up in the Panmunjom truce tent in Korea, a U.N. spokesman said, they will receive "an immediate and unmistakable reply." That inferred the answer would be negative.

The Communists have promised to reply Wednesday morning (Tuesday night, U.S. time) to the newest U.N. truce plan aimed at a Korean armistice within 30 days.

Views aired by Red radios in Peiping and Pyongyang suggested the Communist negotiators might reject the plan. At the U.N. command's truce camp in Munsan it was speculated the Communists might come in with a new plan of their own, or revisions to the Allied proposal that would lead to lengthy argument.

Hunt Missing Girl From Union County

Dorothy Hildreth, 16, Last Seen At Richwood Dance

The Marion County sheriff and Marion police today joined officers throughout central Ohio in searching for a 16-year-old Union County girl, missing since Saturday night.

The girl is Dorothy Hildreth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvie Hildreth of near York Center. She disappeared from a square dance at the Richwood American Legion Hall Saturday night, shortly before midnight.

No trace of her has been found but authorities did not express fear of foul play this morning.

Conflicting Reports

Conflicting reports of her disappearance were received by authorities.

Charles Davis, town marshal at Richwood, said the girl evidently disappeared after leaving the dance hall. He said she was accompanied to the dance by a friend from Marysville, Miss Marjorie Cook. Miss Cook told authorities the missing girl informed her that "Jack" was waiting downtown and she was to meet him. The two girls left the hall and walked to a downtown intersection.

Miss Cook said Miss Hildreth then got into an automobile which drove away. She described the man as being about 30 with a dark mustache. She said the automobile was black. She did not obtain the license number. Miss Cook said they left the Legion hall at 11:45. At no time during the evening did Miss Hildreth mention "Jack's" full name.

Different Version

Mrs. Mary DeBolt, grandmother of the missing girl, had a different version of the disappearance. She said she understood Miss Hildreth had fainted on the dance floor and had been helped outside by other dancers, where she was last seen. She said her granddaughter had been subject to fainting spells since a recent ill-

Reports On Investigation Of Atrocities

Says Evidence Points To Fate of GIs Captured in Korea

TOKYO, Nov. 20—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters tonight there is "considerable evidence" that Communists have killed about 6,000 Americans captured in the Korean war.

A Headquarters statement said the bodies of 365 victims of Red atrocities have been recovered.

Of these, 254 have been identified and reported to next of kin as killed in action. The statement said the remaining 111 have not been identified.

Public information officers declined to comment on the report. Apparently it was issued to allay fears in the United States that there had been a sudden increase in American war deaths as the result of atrocities.

"Investigation has established no increase in the 16,805 total verified known dead as reported by the Defense Department in its November 14 casualty release," The statement said.

No Conclusive Proof

It continued:

"Of the 10,836 persons (Americans) still carried as missing in action, there is no conclusive proof as to the number of dead, though there is considerable evidence to justify presumption of death by atrocity of a large number which may approximate 6,000.

"Neither the fact nor manner of death in individual cases has yet been established."

A spokesman for GHQ said the "persons" referred to as missing were Americans.

The GHQ statement backed up a recent report by Col. James M. Hanley, of the war crimes section of the 8th Army's Advocate General department, stating that about 5,500 had been slaughtered by the communists since the beginning of the war.

In all, Hanley said, about 13,000 United Nations and South Korean soldiers had been killed by the Reds after being taken prisoner.

Tremndous Stir

The Hanley report caused a tremendous stir in United Nations circles, coming as it did when U. N. and Red delegates were engaged in armistice discussions at Panmunjom, Korea.

There had been speculation that Haney had been reprimanded for releasing the figures.

The GHQ release contained a slight reprimand. It said:

"Colonel Hanley is chief of the war crimes section, Eighth Army, and is charged with the responsibility of compiling reports and investigating reported incidents involving violations of the laws of war, interrogating witnesses, collecting and preserving evidence, and maintaining records of war crimes incidents.

"His duties do not involve responsibilities for the reporting of casualties arising from the Korean operation."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ACROSS the dimly-lit bar of Atlantic City's Hotel Chelsea, back in 1946, there hurtled a chair aimed at my skull. Since that's the head I cherish, and since I was slimmer of waist and longer of breath than I am these days, I was able to duck that wooden piece heaved by a man identified in a congressional report as a members of the first Communist cell to infiltrate the government.

His name is Nat Witt, one of the land's most powerful labor influences today. Amused by this flying furniture was a sleek, chunky chap called Saul Mills, one of the few Americans who has found it possible to travel freely through Soviet China, where not too long ago they laid out the red carpet for this strangely obscure man. He and Witt were annoyed by exposures here of their pro-Communist activity. Therefore, the flying chair. But little could be done until today to fully expose the network they represented.

Victor Riesel

Now, to the skeptics who can't quite see how such men can capture and control powerful sections of American labor, the story can finally be revealed because six senators, leaders of both parties, believing that the Communists still endanger the defense effort, are searching for a crystal clear law to oust them democratically from all danger spots.

THIS COMBINATION of senators, in itself, is national news. For it includes Mr. Republican, Robert Taft, as well as Gov. Dewey's colleague, Irving Ives, the militant Wayne Morse and such energetic supporters of President Truman as Hubert Humphrey, Matthew Neely and John Pastore. No group could have been more non-partisan as it sat in committee on October 26 and approved one of the most vital documents to come out of the Senate.

This report reveals the details of methods used by the Communist Party to direct policy of unions which right now can, with verbal push buttons, shut down American defense for weeks, perhaps months, unless the Army were moved in. Just like that.

Here are the names, dates and places of secret meetings during which such characters as Harry Bridges were ordered to follow certain policies, directed to resign or take office, hire particular organizers and launch special drives. Here is the specific spotting of the Communist liaison apparatus and transmission belts to labor.

NAT WITT, the irritated comrade who heaved the chair, for example, is today national counsel of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, ousted from CIO in a trial by labor leaders described in the Senators' report. If that union should again call its people out on strike in the copper industry, the American war machine soon would die. Yet the Senators reveal that "approximately 90 percent of the union's staff are members of the Communist Party."

This strategic union was run by a high steering committee of four Party members. They determined Communist policy inside the union.

"The party group within the union had a systematic working apparatus for making its decisions and for translating those decisions into union policy . . . . They did this in consultation with the leaders of the Communist Party. Meetings were frequently held with Communist Party leaders such as William Z. Foster, Eugene Dennis, John Williamson and Gil Green. In addition, there was a regular envoy of the Communist party who was designated as liaison man between Mine, Mill (union) and the Party," the Senators disclose from their study of the CIO trials of this union.

THIS SAME BAND of party officials met with Harry Bridges regularly, many times in some hotel during a CIO convention. Many of this Communist party group are now jailed, or on the lam, fugitives from the FBI.

They set labor policy so effectively, it is revealed, that they were able to convince John Lewis to launch a longshoremen's unionizing drive—and quietly placed at its head a chap by name of Al Lannan, secretly the chief of the Communist Party's waterfront section. Among the places some of them met, this document states, was the home of the bland little Saul Mills, whose business took him to China, after the Sovietized armies got there.

Yet Bridges now controls much of the economy of our Western waterfront, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands, for he who controls labor controls the economy.

From now on the Communists can't scream "frame-up". They were tried democratically by a "jury" of their labor peers.

They had the right of counsel, cross examination, and were heard behind closed doors with the press excluded.

With this document out of the way, the Senators now will ask the AEC the Defense Department, and some 50 key labor leaders, newspapermen, business executives and federal specialists for suggestions on development of a law, which dill not deny even the conspirators their civil rights, but definitely will make certain that those who conspire to rid the nation of its rights shall be ripped from inside American labor.

OHIO FOOD GIFT DEDICATED. The farmers of Ohio contributed wheat and beans to the $41,936 food gift cargo now being carried to Bremen, Germany, aboard CROP's Friendship Food Ship, the SS Ornefjell. The gift cargo was dedicated in Chicago on United Nations Day at which time the CROP 1951 appeal for 1,400 carloads of food was initiated. This view was taken at the edication in Chicago and shows a token of Ohio's contribution and members of the Ohio CROP organization. Scout Leaders In Area Attend Conference

Forty-eight patrol leaders, troop officers, and unit leaders participated in the Junior Leaders Conference held at Camp Owens Saturday, under sponsorship of Harding Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. All districts were represented with junior leaders from 11 units attending.

Nelford Kimerline of Explorer Crew 60, sponsored by Good Hope Lutheran Church, Bucyrus, presided at the all-day conference. Bruce Fails, field executive of the Crawford-Wyandot district, was staff advisor to the conference committee. He was assisted by Bob Cheetham, field executive of the Marion district; Bruce Hale, Explorer advisor of Troop 2, Marion; Quentin Moody, Scoutmaster of Troop 30, Cardington, and other adult leaders who participated in special projects of the programs.

The morning program consisted of fellowship and morale features, orientation, discussion and visual aids presenting best methods of patrol and troop leadership, and exchange of ideas by means of brief statements of successful practices by each unit present.

In the afternoon Scoutcrafts and their teaching methods were demonstrated and taught through the media of "The Scout Fair" plan. Expert craftsmen gave demonstrations in rope work, hike methods, first aid, and safety. A review of the day's activities was presented in the central lodge late in the afternoon. "So Now You're a Patrol Leader" was the theme of the closing session. The conference closed following a "pep" session directed by Nelford Kimerline, Ned Bibler, and others of the junior staff.

Certificates of training in patrol leadership were presented by Bob Cheetham to all who participated.

Nelford Kimerline was re-elected chairman of the 1952 conference committee. Marlow Ransom was elected vice chairman.

Pavement Plato

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

NOTEBOOK jottings by a pavement Plato:

One of the sadder aspects of the weird times we live in is the unexpected impact they have on the minds of your young.

The other night a father woke up to hear his small son crying bitterly in the dark. He arose and went into the boy's room to find out what was wrong.

"I forgot the Lord's Prayer, Daddy," sobbed his son.

"But you said it just before you went to bed," said the father.

Hal Boyle

"I know," replied the child, "but I dreamed I was talking to a scientist, and he told me all the air was escaping from the earth, and everybody in the world would soon be dead. And I tried to say the Lord's Prayer, and I couldn't remember it."

The father soothed his fears and said, "Of course, you remember it, son. "Let's say it together."

And they chanted, "Our Father, Who Art In Heaven—."

Soon the small boy was sound asleep again. But the father stayed awake for a long, long time.

The elderly derelict sat up and muttered belligerently:

"Whass that you said? I heard you."

"I said you're a bad boy," replied the old lady sternly, pulling back her dog.

"Thass right, thass right," agreed the bum, lying back contentedly. "You got a sixth sense, lady."

To members of the Worry-Of-The-Month club: get ready now to wrinkle your brows over our December selection: what to do about old vests?

We feel that this should be perhaps our most popular worry-of-the-month during 1951. Many men complain their closets are bulging with old vests they no longer wear. They refuse to throw them away, however, and wives say they can't use them to make skirts.

What will be done with all the nation's old vests? Don't wait until December. Start worrying about this problem now. It deserves your best anxiety.

New Light on Hardening of Arteries

The arteries are a system of tubes carrying blood from the heart. To cooperate best with that organ, they must retain a certain flexibility and "give." With age, the arteries frequently thicken, and then you have hardening of the arteries, or arteriosclerosis.

Arteriosclerosis causes much of the heart trouble in those over 60 years of age, and also may contribute to much kidney disease. Coronary heart disease, one of the major killers of man, is due to an early hardening of the arteries that supply the heart itself. Many cases of so-called stroke are due to hardening of the arteries.

For many years doctors have been searching for the cause of arteriosclerosis, but progress has been slow. Recent evidence, however, suggests that the guilty party may be a fatty substance in the blood known as chloesterol.

Not long ago a group of scientists produced arteriosclerosis in animals by feeding them a high fat diet, which greatly increases the amount of cholesterol in the blood. It is also significant that the cholesterol level in the blood is increased in certain diseases such as diabetes, hypothyroidism, and coronary heart disease.

One fairly effective method of reducing the cholesterol in the blood has been to restrict the amount of fatty foods. A high fat intake is necessary for cholesterol to be taken into the blood in large amounts. To be helpful, however, the fat reduction has to be somewhat drastic. Another method that has met with some success is the use of a pancreatic enzyme known as pancreatic lipase.

The bile, a liver secretion, is very important to the absorption of cholesterol from the intestines. The substance is not taken into the blood in conditions where the bile flow is diminished. It is believed that an improperly working liver may cause a high cholesterol level.

Use of certain vitamins, such as choline, inositol, and methionine, has been helpful in reducing this level by taking over some of the liver's job. In addition, certain hormones, such as thyroid and the sex hormones, play an important role in preventing hardening of the arteries.

From these findings we may conclude that persons past the age of 40 who may have a predisposition to hardening of the arteries should take steps to prevent this condition. On early consultation, the physician will be able to determine the best low-fat diet and prescribe necessary vitamins and thyroid or sex gland extracts and, in general, how best to handle the situation.

Erie Railroad Conductors Vote On Union

Some 360 conductors on the Erie Railroad begin voting today on whether to remain in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen or to go back into the Order of Railway Conductors, The Associated Press reported.

The Erie conductors left the ORC about four years ago to become members of the BRT because they were dissatisfied. Now the conductors union has signatures from a majority of Erie conductors who want to return and has petitioned for the current election.

Balloting will be held at eight Erie terminals on separate days. Starting at Huntington, Ind., the election will move to Marion, and Youngstown, O., Meadville, Pa.; Hornell, N. Y.; Scranton, Pa.; Port Jervis, N. Y.; and Belleville, N. J.

The railway Mediation Board, which is conducting the vote, expects to have results in about two weeks.

Balloting for approximately 125 conductors in the Kent division, which has headquarters here, is scheduled to be held Wednesday and Thursday at the Erie freight house on W. Center St. The Railway Mediation Board members who are conducting the vote are scheduled to be in Marion tomorrow, R. H. Lewis Erie division superintendent said today.

Italy Facing New Floods

ROVIGO, ITALY, Nov. 20—(AP)—Threats of new floods in the already devastated Po River delta appeared today following heavy rains through northern Italy. More than 100 deaths already have been recorded.

At Turin, nearly 200 miles to the northeast, the level of Italy's mightiest stream rose three feet last night. Many tributaries of the Po were approaching flood stage across the country.

Water was running in the streets of Gallarate, a town of 24,800 north of Turin. Damage to the electric power plant plunged the town into darkness last night.

Flooding rivers threatened to fill Lake Lugano to overflowing, along the Italian-Swiss border.

In stricken Rovigo province and the Po River delta—scene of the greatest damage in the Po valley during the past 10 days—a huge rescue force continued to clear danger spots of their remaining inhabitants.

blood collection program, told a reporter orders had gone out to local Red Cross units to continue collections for shipment going to the Sharp and Dohme plant, near Philadelphia.

Previously, collection centers had been told to stop taking blood for shipment to the plant, because of the strike threat. Units would, however, have continued collection for whole blood shipments to Korea or local use.

Swigart said the Defense Department had asked the Red Cross to send out the go-ahead for collection and shipment of the urgently needed blood.

The chemical workers authorized a strike by midnight tonight, if no settlement is reached before then.

Offered New Contract

Before today's agreement was worked out a company official at Philadelphia said Sharp and Dohme had offered a new wage contract to the union including a 4.4 per cent wage increase, a wage reopening clause after six months, automatic increases for promotions, and a maintenance-of-union membership provision.

Martin Wagner, president of the CIO chemical workers, said here the remaining issue was a union shop demand. This normally entails a requirement that all employes join and keep up membership in the union.

Wagner said the union had agreed on a modified version, under which non-union workers would be allowed to retain present jobs, and the union shop would apply to future employes.

He also said the union had agreed to process any blood collected before the strike deadline.

Sailor Is Indicted In Bus Crash Fatal To 8

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 20—Testimony of heavy drinking, wild driving and wife-choking ended in indictment of a sailor whose car touched off the Oct. 28 Greyhound bus crash on the San Francisco Bay bridge. The tragedy cost eight lives and injured 21 other persons.

Manslaughter and drunk driving indictments were returned late yesterday by an Alameda County grand jury against Boatswain's Mate Orville C. Russell Jr.

Russell's car hit a traffic-dividing abutment near the Oakland end of the bridge and tossed a concrete chunk in the path of the bus, causing it to plunge 40 feet off a ramp.

Southern Methodist, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Maryland and Kentucky as examples of overemphasis in football. Kentucky is the only one of the group involved in the basketball point-fixing scandal that has reached more than 30 players from seven schools and a referee

Ridiculous Standards

The judge called a college athlete a paid commercial and said academic standards for athletes are a laugh.

University of Oklahoma athletes are required to maintain proper scholastic standards, university president Dr. George L. Cross said in answering Judge Streit's statement that one Oklahoma football player was taking introduction to geography and loaded his program with theories of basketball, swimming games and volley ball in his senior year.

"We are interested in having all our athletes make steady progress toward graduation," Dr. Cross said.

The reaction of Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach, was to go into the records and announce that football lettermen have been graduated at a 92 per cent pace since he became coach of the Sooners.

"If Judge Streit will give us the name of the Oklahoma football player he was referring to, we will be glad to make the player's scholastic record public." The judge did not name the player in his lengthy statement.

SMU Answers

The judge's statement that Southern Methodist awards 154 academic scholarships annually brought from athletic director Matty Bell a question as to what was wrong with his school granting such scholarships.

"Well, it isn't any of the judge's business in the first place and in the second place these scholarships cover all sports, not just football. . . . These are given to boys, who, in the main, would be unable to attend college without the assistance. . . . I wish this judge would meet some of the fine boys we have in athletics. Our athletes are among the finest young men in the country and it is that way at most of the colleges."

Dana X. Bible, University of Texas athletic director, conceded the collegiate football program "may have gotten off-side a little bit" sometimes but declared the good in football far outweighs the bad.

"It's just another indication of the need for a committee like this," said Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State and head of a special committee set up by the American Council of Education to look into sports.

That was the only comment on the judge's blast from the committee of seven college presidents but, before the jurist made his statement, Hannah told reporters:

Matter of Concern

"We realize we must be responsible for the total operation of the university. We have a real concern in the protection of the integrity in higher education.

"We start with the assumption that there is much good in college sports. We want to preserve what's good and take the evil out."

Tennessee's rebuttal came from President C. E. Brehm who said in a statement:

"We don't think the athletic department has over-emphasized athletic activities to the detriment of our academic program. We are maintaining high academic standards and the boys who play on the football team have to conform to those standards if they continue in school."

Maryland's answer to Judge Streit's statement that 60 of Maryland's 97 players are from other states was given by Geary Eppley, dean of men and chairman of the athletic council.

"We have always had quite a few from out of the state," he said. "Probably not so many as we now have but the bulk of our students from outside of Maryland and the District of Columbia come from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

Missing Girl

ness. Mrs. DeBolt said persons at the dance had been unable to tell her who had helped the girl from the hall.

She said her granddaughter, who was fond of dancing, had attended the dance with a girl and a boy. At the dance, she met other acquaintances and during the course of the evening spent little time with her two companions. When the girl failed to return to the dance after fainting, the two friends thought she had returned to her home, six miles west of Richwood. After the dance, the friends drove to the Hildreth home to find Miss Hildreth's condition. They were told she had not returned to her home and search of Richwood failed to turn up any clues.

To Question Dancers

Marshal Davis and Union County Sheriff Walter Galloway were to carry on the investigation. Indications were that persons attending the dance would be questioned in an effort to shed light on the disappearance.

Mrs. DeBolt described her granddaughter as being five feet, six inches high and weighing approximately 156 pounds. She has blonde hair and dark blue eyes and is light complexioned. She is an avid dance fan but often suffers fainting spells when overexerted.

Barbara Payton To File for Divorce, Her Attorney Says

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20—(AP)—The seven-week marriage of Franchot Tone and actress Barbara Payton is on the rocks, her attorney said today. The lawyer, Robert S. Feder, said the couple quarreled bitterly Sunday night and separated yesterday. He said he plans to file a divorce action soon, possibly next week.

Feder said he did not know what the quarrel was about.

His client has moved out of the apartment she shared with the suave actor and is staying with friends, he said.

Neither Tone nor Miss Payton could be reached for comment.

In the Yonchon hill fight, an estimated Red battalion charged up the slopes about 3 a.m. Flashes of gunfire lit up the night as Allied infantrymen pulled back slowly before the assault.

Two hours after the battle began, the U.N. infantrymen counterattacked. Most of the Reds got out of the way. The Allies were challenged only by a few rounds of rifle and artillery fire, and soon were back in their original positions.

Morral Fire Truck Used First Time

The Morral Volunteer Fire Department's new truck answered its first call this morning when a winter hood caught fire on a tractor owned by George Bosley Jr. of Morral.

Chief C. D. Faurot said the hood was ignited when the tractor backfired. No damage resulted to the tractor. The blaze was extinguished with chemicals.

The new truck recently was purchased for the department, composed of 20 volunteer fire fighters.

Govt. Case Thrown Out

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—Judge Matthew F. McGuire today threw out the government's case against one of five officers of the Peace Information Center, brought to trial here on charges of violating the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Directing acquittal of Miss Sylvia Soloff, McGuire ruled there was no evidence to warrant her case going to the jury.

He made his ruling just before arguments began on a defense motion for a judgment of acquittal for all the defendants.

The Peace Information Center, with headquarters in New York, circulated the "Stockholm Peace Appeal"—a document the State Department denounced as a Communist propaganda trick. It called for outlawing the atomic bomb.

The government charged the officers of the center, by circulating the document, were acting as agents for a foreign (Communist) authority and should have registered as foreign agents. Violation of the Foreign Agents Registration Act carries a possible penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Former Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP-NY), chief defense counsel, moved for acquittal of the defendants as soon as the government wound up its case late yesterday.

Suspend U.N. Arms Debate

PARIS, Nov. 20—(AP)—British and Russian jockeying for the star speaking position forced a suspension of debate today on western disarmament prpoposals before the United Nations political committee.

Both British minister of state Selwyn Lloyd and Soviet foreign minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky want to speak last in the discussion opened yesterday by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

A British spokesman also said he believed that the "very profound impression" created in the 60-member committee by Acheson made Vishinsky hesitate to answer too quickly. According to this view, the Russians do not want to appear before the world as spurning the western plan without considerable thought.

Despite pleas from committee chairman Finn Moe of Norway for speakers, the group adjourned until tomorrow after brief talks by Brazil, Peru, Haiti and Iran asking the big powers to compose their differences in order to reduce the burden of armaments on the world.

CIRCLE HOLDS DINNER

Circle 3 of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church held its annual dinner meeting Monday night at Ringer's Inn. A short business meeting was held. Mrs. Gerald Walker conducted devotions, reading Psalm 103, and a Thanksgiving semonette by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, Pastor, which appeared in the Saturday issue of the Marion Star. A social, hour followed.

Singer-dancer Judy Garland registers joy against a background of congratulatory telegrams in her dressing room at the Palace Theater in New York where she made her "comeback" all over again. WHEEL CHAIR VET DROPS BUCK. "Surgeon" To Be Discharged

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—(AP)—The Canadian Navy prepared today to discharge an American who posed as a Canadian doctor and served brilliantly as a surgeon in Korea. The man's father doubts he ever went to medical school.

The Navy announced yesterday that the man they enlisted as Dr. Joseph Cyr of New Brunswick is in reality 29-year-old Ferdinand Waldo Demara Jr., formerly of Lawrence, Mass.

The Navy's "Dr. Cyr" won considerable fame for a series of major operations he performed on wounded South Koreans. The elder Demara said as far as he knows the only previous medical experience his son had was as an orderly in a Boston eye and ear infirmary. The father said he hadn't seen his son since about 1943. He described him as "bright to the pont of genius" and said he once studied in a Trappist monastery.

New Brunswick's only Dr. Joseph Cyr, of Grand Falls, reported his medical identification papers disappeared last winter. Newspaper accounts of the Navy man's surgical exploits aroused comment in New Brunswick and resulted in Demara's return to Canada for investigation.

The Navy announced Demara would be discharged "in due course" for fraudulent entry into the service. Canadian immigration authorities also are investigating whether he entered the country illegally.

The competition is a part of a nation-wide project of Junior Chambers of Commerce, on local state and national uevels. A tape recording of the program was made here and a transcription of the winning speech will be judged with other transcriptions of the individual winners throughout Ohio to determine first place in the state.

Ohio winner will be awarded a college scholarship of $250, radio or television set, and four national winners, scholarship of $500 and a trip to Washington, D. C. and other places of historical interest. Finals will be in January. The state competition will be a broadcast made Dec. 2 over a radio network.

Judges for the local event were honorary members of the Jaycees, Harold Grigsby and Robert T. Mason and Lt. Col. S. H. Duerson in place of Col. Rene Quenneville of the Marion Engineer Depot who is also a Jaycee honorary member. Ken Huguet of the Junior Chamber is chairman of the Americanism committee and was in charge of the contest.

First place winner here is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Kerrey of 235 Marion Ave., and the runnerup is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Boler of 374 Silver St.

Trial Date Set For Newsmen

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 20—(AP)— Five newspapermen, whose eight-month campaign against gambling led to their indictment on charges of defaming three gamblers and 16 public officials, go on trial December 5.

Their trials were set yesterday by Judge J. Bernard Cocke after Cocke denied motions to throw out the indictments.

M. E. Culligan, assistant attorney general of Louisiana and special prosecutor in the cases, said he would bring Kenneth L. Dixon, managing editor of the Lake Charles American Press, to trial first.

The other newsman, co-defendants with Dixon, will follow Dixon on trial.

The newsman, all with the American Press, the only daily in this city of 50,000, were indicted August 27. The charges against them were based on articles and editorials published about gambling that existed at that time and the lack of enforcement of the state's gambling laws.

Shortly before the indictments were returned, gambling establishments shut their doors and have been inoperative since.

Steel Talks Begin Nov. 27

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20—(AP)—Negotiations which will go a long way toward determining the nation's economy for the next year open in this steel capital Nov. 27.

Big United States Steel Corp and the CIO United Steelworkers have decided to begin new contract talks in advance of the Dec. 1 date under the current contract which expires Dec. 31, 1951.

Similar negotiations are in the proces of being arranged throughout the steel industry.

Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, will head his union's negotiating committee which will try to win a wage boost for members who now average about $1.95 an hour. On the opposite side of the table will be John A. Stephens, vice president in charge of industrial relations for the big firm.

Everyone throughout the industry will be watching the negotiations because it's a matter of record that as "big steel goes so goes the rest of the steel industry."

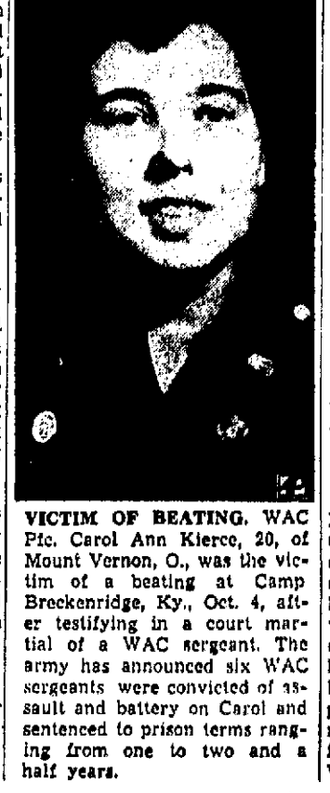
FBI Quizzes Ship Captain in Ohio Seaman's Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20—(AP)—FBI agents have questioned skipper Frederick O. Weaver, who says he shot and killed a seaman in self-defense while his ship was in Far Eastern waters last month.

The Isbrandtsen Lines freighter Flying Trader docked here yesterday with a temporary crew assembled in Kobe, Japan. Thirty-two crewmen refused to sail under ex-Englewood, N. J., captain after the Oct. 25 shooting.

The steamship company said Weaver shot William Harvey, a Negro utility man of Dayton, O., after Harvey "went berserk and threatened to kill the captain."

The FBI declined to disclose the result of its questioning, but told reporters Weaver would not be taken into custody here. An agent said a further inquiry probably would be held here or in New York.



VICTIM OF BEATING. WAC Pfc. Carol Ann Kierce, 20, of Mount Vernon, O., was the victim of a beating at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., Oct. 4, after testifying in a court martial of a WAC sergeant. The army has announced six WAC sergeants were convicted of assault and battery on Carol and sentenced to prison terms ranging from one to two and a half years.

Tax Scandal

letter "which Caudle wrote, wherein he said the memorandum carried the implication that King had attempted to use influence on the tax cases."

The tangled situation had its basis in an unrelated legal action involving the Long Beach (Calif.) Federal Savings and Loan Association.

An outgrowth of the case was a tax fraud investigation—never prosecuted—involving C. S. and C. J. Jones, Long Beach construction operators, and J. D. Wilhoit. The Jones brothers and Wilhoit had business associations with the Long Beach Savings and Loan Association.

Angell, emerging from the committee room, said he told the committee that he prepared the memorandum in 1950 for Cain and Morse in an effort to open up hearings then being conducted by a House executive expenditures subcommittee into the lengthy litigation involving the association.

office again. He said he has been talking up Rayburn on a recent visit to Oklahoma with "favorable reaction" there.

Rayburn recently cautioned Southern Democrats against any revolt because of their opposition to the President's civil rights program. Reaction indicated he didn't win any new political friends by this appeal.

Like Monroney, Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) told reporters he doesn't think Mr. Truman will run again.

Favors Eisenhower

Sparkman's candidate is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. If the general isn't available, the Alabama senator said he thinks Chief Justice Fred Vinson would carry the South for the Democrats even though the party failed to water down its strong 1948 stand for civil rights legislation.

Delay Ruling On Bellevue Chief

BELLEVUE, O., Nov. 20—(AP)—This city's three-man Civil Service Commission has completed hearing charges against Police Chief John E. Baker, 57, but is not expected to rule on the case for several weeks.

Baker, in his sixth year as chief, was ousted from the $328-a-month job earlier this fall by Mayor Homer Crecelius.

The firing followed charges by Patrolman Arnold Zerman, 24, before council that Baker "flagrantly violated the police oath he swore to uphold." Seven of the eight other policemen in this city of 7,000 supported Zerman.

The chief took the witness stand in the four-day hearing which ended last night. He denied misusing a police car and explained that allegedly obscene photographs he took of an arrested Negro woman were made to record marks of a beating she claimed to have suffered.

U. S. PLANE VANISHES

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, Nov. 20—(AP)—A U. S. Air Force C-47 transport plane with four crewmen aboard vanished yesterday enroute from Bavaria to Belgrade. A mammoth air search was organized to comb the northern Adriatic Sea, where it may have crash-landed. The pilot's last emergency message, at 4:16 p.m. (10:16 a.m. EST) yesterday reported the plane was "low on fuel and I'm not sure I can make Venice or an emergency landing."

A Foreign Policy For Americans

By Senator Robert A. Taft

CHAPTER 5

The Russian Menace. How It Was Created

I POINTED OUT in 1945 that the defects of the United Nations Charter make it completely useless against the aggression of one of the five permanent members.

This result has been made apparent sooner than might have been expected by two facts—first, the revelation that Russian Communism has a spirit of aggression which recognizes no laws or obligations (as we were told by all those who knew anything about it), and, second, an Administration policy which deliberately built Russia up to a position of dangerous power.

SENATOR TAFT

The concessions made at Teheran, Yalta, and Potsdam and our later policies in the Far East were such as to build up Soviet Russia to a position of power which today does indeed present a threat to the security of the United States.

Harry Hopkins and Averell Harriman apparently accepted completely the idea that Russia was a peace-loving nation, for it is so designated in the joint Declaration on Liberated Europe agreed to at Yalta. At Teheran Roosevelt signed a declaration welcoming all nations into a "world family of Democratic Nations," of which Russia was apparently already one in the eyes of Roosevelt, Hopkins, and Harriman.

Wallace and Davies

Henry Wallace, former Vice President and at the time of Yalta Secretary of Commerce, has made speeches about the "new democracy," to be built by the people of the United States and of Russia. He said that anyone suggesting that the aims and purposes of the two peoples were irreconcilable was criminal, that in some ways Russia was more democratic than America. Joseph E. Davies, American ambassador to Russia before Harriman, expressed the view that the Soviet leaders were "sincerely devoted to peace" and that what they most desired was to live as good neighbors in a world at peace.

My own view is that the Communists in our Government, in the labor unions, and among the writing fraternity in both New York and Hollywood were concerned with influencing people who were in a position to affect public opinion or public policy or others who could influence such people. They planted exactly the philosophy which was adopted—that communism was probably not the form of government for the United States but that it was, in fact, a form of government more or less consistent with American ideals.

I could never understand how any man who went through even an American high school could reach such a conclusion. Communism, from my point of view, denies every principle of Americanism.

At the Potsdam Conference (July 17-Aug.2, 1945) for the first time, apparently, some suspicions about Soviet good faith began to arise in the minds of those who were running American foregin policy, particularly Secretary Byrnes, but, nevertheless, at Potsdam, President Truman reaffirmed all the agreements made at Yalta and approved the Morgenthau policy in Germany and even went beyond the Yalta agreement in some of the workings out of that agreement. His agreements finally sealed the fate of the Baltic peopes, of Poand, of Czechoslovakia, and of the Balkan states.

A Gradual Change

From that time on our policy of conceding everything in Europe to Russia was gradually changed.

I believe very largely under the influence of Senator Vandenberg, who, at San Francisco, saw how completely impossible it was to deal with the Russians. Working with Vandenberg, Secretary Byrnes finally refused to go along with any plan which would give Russia a predominating position throughout Germany. He threatened to resign unless Henry Wallace was dismissed from the Cabinet, and President Truman complied with his advice.

Gradually, in Europe our whole position changed, and we took a definite position against the expansion of Russian influence in any degree. We adopted the Marshall Plan, which proposed to give assistance to countries threatened by Russian infiltration and by communism from within.

We adopted a policy of giving military aid to Tukey and Greece, which were under direct threat of attack by the Communists. We finally ratified the Atlantic Pact and agreed to go to war wih Russia if it attacked any member of that pact.

In short, we compllely reversed our policy in Europe and adopted the general policy of checking the advance of communism in every way in which it could possibly checked.

But in the Far East

On the other hand, in the Far East we continued to encourage the growth of the power of communism.

In spite of the recommendations of the Wedemeyer report on China, we finally abandoned Chiang Kai-shek. The administration fought efforts to provide money for arms to Chiang and refused to carry out the policy along that line decreed by Congress. Even when Chiang Kai-shek had retired to Formosa the Administration refused to give any assistance whatever.

Mr. Acheson indicated further that America might recognize Communist China. There is no doubt that the attitude of the Administration toward Formosa and its general weak position toward the spread of communism encouraged the war in Korea.

In January 1950 Secretary Acheson stated clearly that we would fight if Japan, Okinawa, or the Philippines were attacked, but we could give no guarantee beyond that point. We had withdrawn our troops from Korea, and we thus made it clear that we would not defend South Korea if attacked.

Furthermore, we even failed to arm South Korea.

Policy Invited Attack

There is no doubt that the Administration's weak policy invited the Communist attack. The Communists took the Secretary of State at his word. They knew that we permitted the taking over of China by the Communists and saw no reason why we should seriously oject to the taking over of Korea.

The Korean war and the problems which arise from it are the final result of the continuous sympathy toward communism which inspired American policy.

The result today is that Chinese Communists have taken over practically all of continental China, and from that point they have sent armies into Korea and Tibet, and are threatening Indo-China, Burma, Thailand, and all all of Southeast Asia.

The result of the Administration policy, therefore, has been to build up the strength of Soviet Russia, so that it is, in fact, a threat to the security of the United States. Our liberty is threatened by the Russian military strength, backed up by the fifth-column strength which the Russians are always able to develop among Communists in every nation in the world.

I feel that Russia is far more a threat to the security of the United States than Hitler in Germany ever was. There are several reasons for that belief. Principally, it is based on the great development of air power, which permits airplanes to be built that can fly from Russian territory or Russian bases all the way to the United States. It is certainly possible that Russian planes can be built, in time, able to fly to the United States and return. The Russians also apparently possess the atomic bomb, or at leàst we have to allow for that in our plans.

Greater Manpower

Of course, the Russians have much greater manpower than ourselves; and if they can also swing the manpower of China, as they seem to be doing at the present moment, they have an overwhelming superiority in manpower, at the present moment, they have an overwhelming superiority in manpower, if it can ever be brought to bear against the United States itself

Therefore, today we find ourselves with the greatest military threat from foreign sources we have faced since the days of the American Revolution. We find that the United Nations is a weak reed to lean upon, and we are forced, therefore, to the development of some other policy to combat Russian aggression.

It was in March, 1950 that General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified before the Senate committee on appropriations that he was satisfied that a budget of 13 billion dollars for fiscal year 1951, with about a million and a half men in uniform, was sufficient for the interests of the country.

Of course the Korean war has occurred since that time, but the present program of 40 to 60 billion dollars a year is not to meet the Korean war but to meet the powerful threat of Soviet Russia. The Korean war itself only takes one-tenth of the total men now requested and perhaps costs five of six billion dollars a year to conduct. The threat from Russia was exactly the same and from the same Russia in early 1950 as it is today. It is our policy which has changed.

BRINGING OUT THE TOWELS. Getting together with the nation's top football coaches for some imaginary conversation and crying towel wavings.

"Gentlemen, it's good to see such a large turnout, particularly after some disastrous weekends for some of you. Now, does anyone wish to start it off?"

ELLIOTT. Ray Elliott of Illinois: "My boys are still asking where that guy Brungy came from. He played football against us like we turned him down for a scholarship or something."

"Yes, Mr. Elliott, a very fierce player is our 'Fearless Freddy.' I See OSU's Woody Hayes and Ernie Godfrey seemed to be engrossed. Care to share your doodlings with us, gentlemen."

HAYES. Woody Hayes. "Ernie and I are working up some new records to play for our gang this week against Michigan. We figure if we can hold Illinois scoreless with songs like, 'Goodnight, Irene,' and 'Old Soldiers Never Die,' we may do even better against the Wolves with something that's got a little more clash of the cymbals."

"Well spoken, Mr. Hayes. Now gentlemen, anyone have any musical suggestions for the Buck coach?"

OOSTERBAAN. "I object to that question on the grounds that it is unfair to Michigan."

"The floor recognizes Mr. Benny Oosterbaan of Michigan and apologizes for the question. Now, who is the gentleman hiding his face in a big white towel with the lettering, 'hotel' on it?"

GILLMAN. Sid Gillman of Cincinnati: "Forgive me, gentlemen, if I let my emotions run away with me, but did you ever have a prize right in your grasp ready to pocket it and then see it fleet away? That's what happened to us against Xavier. There we are on the two-yard line ready to score in the first period and the next thing I see is an Xavier back on his way to a 98-yard TD romp. Most disconcerting, gentlemen, most disconcerting."

"Will someone please get Mr. Gillman a fresh towel and we'll get on with it.

"I believe I see Mr Glenn Fraser of Ohio Wesleyan in this group. Mr. Fraser, for a team that advocated having fun, I must say your Bishops did right well for themselves."

FRASER: "Yes, we are proud of our 8-1 record, but we would also like to play in that sportsmanship game where the teams are awarded points for good conduct. To sum up the season, our boys laughed a lot and won a lot. We are well satisfied."

"Thank you, Mr. Fraser. Now, gentlemen, shall we conclude this week's gathering with a song?"

Voice from the back: "I move we sing, 'Goodbye Girls, I'm Through,' and dedicate it to the losing coaches.'

"Motion seconded and carried."

SENTENCED IN CAGE FIX. All-American Sherman White (left), basketball star from Long Island University, and Connie Schaff of New York University wait outside the courtroom of Judge Saul Streit in New York before being sentenced for their parts in the college basketball scandal. White drew a one year term and Schaff, who later collapsed on the courtroom floor, got six months. Twelve other players drew sentences along with gambler Salvatore Sollazzo, who bribed players to rig games. Sollazzo, called by Judge Streit "a cool, calculating and cunning weasel," drew from eight to 16 years in prison.

Steubenville Close 2nd; Springfield in 3rd Spot

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20 — (AP) — Massillon's mighty Tigers won Ohio's high school football championship today for the fourth straight year, taking a second leg on the Rutgers "Hall of Fame" little trophy.

Coach Chuck Mather's powerhouse was acclaimed the "tops" in the biggest Associated Press poll in history, 49 of the state's sports editors casting votes.

Although the Tiger total of 366½ points was the greatest ever piled up, the Massillon margin was one of the slimmest. Steubenville's Big Red, last week's poll leader, was only 13 points back with 353½, and third - place Springfield had 327.

Thirteen teams drew first-place nominations, Massillon getting 12½ and Steubenville 11½ of the top choices as one voter put the leaders in a dead heat.

Late TD

During the regular season Massillon nosed out Steubenville, 13-6, with a touchdown in the last 10 seconds, and the Tigers edged the Big Red the same way in the poll.

Hamilton's Big Blue, its lone loss a one-pointer to Springfield, finished fourth behind Jim McDonald's Wildcats. Zanesville, only team in the top 10 with a clean record, was fifth. Barberton, which suffered its lone loss at Massillon's hands, was sixth, and Warren, the only winner over the Tigers, wound up seventh despite three defeats.

Cleveland Collinwood, its record marred yesterday by a 12-12 tie with Cleveland Benedictine, was eighth, with Fremont Ross and Lima Central taking the last two spots.

Chuck Mather, in his four years at Massillon, has won 37 games and lost three. Alliance defeated him in 1948, Mansfield in 1949, he won 10 straight in 1950, and Warren caught him 19-13 this year.

All of which brings up the question "why doesn't some big time college grab this guy who has won four straight titles in the toughest scholastic circles in America?"

Chuck has turned down a couple of good college jobs, missed the Ohio State berth by an eyelash—and you may find him on an up-and-coming campus next fall.

Ted Schwanger of Sandusky is only 17, but stands 6-2 and weighs 200. He's scored 12 touchdowns, passed for five, carried 123 times for a 5.85 average, and his two-year punting average is 38.7. Sandusky's 9-1 record was its best since 1938.

And Fremont's John Lewis has 21 touchdowns, a rushing average of 8.1 for 189 tries, eight touchdown runs of over 37 yards called back, and carries 198 pounds on his 6-3 frame.

All-American Kid

Steubenville's Eddie (Pumpkin) Vincent is the All-America kid. He started four years ago as a 105-pounder, stuck on the reserves until the second game of his senior year, and then moved into the lineup as a 150-pound halfback. In Friday's 41-0 win over Weirton, W. Va., the kid

Kazmaier Wins Player Award

Unanimous Choice As "Player of Year"

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 — (AP) — Dick Kazmaier is the unanimous choice of the Robert W. Maxwell Memorial football club for "the college football player of the year" award.

Kazmaier, the Princeton pearl, or peril, according to whose side you are on, will receive his award at the club's 14th annual dinner Jan. 7.

Kazmaier leads the nation in total offense with 1707 yards gained, 814 by rushing and 893 by passing.

The "boy" from Mauree, O., who was thought too small for football when he entered Princeton, already has set three Princeton records: most scoring passes in a season, most scoring passes in career and total offense in modern era.

He has scored nine touchdowns this season.

In rushing, Kazmaier has averaged 5.80 yards per carry and his 71 pass completions in 111 tries gives him a 694, his best in his college career.

Says Illinois Ready For Northwestern

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 — (AP) — Illinois will be in much better shape physically and mentally for Northwestern Saturday than it was a year ago when the Wildcats pulled a stunning 14-7 upset.

That's the word from Doug Mills, Illinois athletic director who addressed the Chicago Quarterback Club yesterday. While Mills was putting across this observation, Illini Coach Ray Eliot was saying the same thing at Champaign.

This unanimity of opinion is a step toward dispelling that old bugaboo of a jinx that has dangled over Illinois.

Eliot has never defeated a Northwestern team coached by Bob Voigts, losing to the Wildcats in 1947, 1948, 1949 and 1950.

Last year's defeat was the costliest of the bunch, since it kept Illinois from the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl trip and dumped it into fourth place in the final standings.

The setting Saturday, as far as the Rose Bowl and title are concerned, is about the same. Illinois needs to defeat, or tie, Northwestern to clinch the honors. A loss would be just as disastrous as a year ago and would open the door for Wisconsin or Purdue.

Vets' Basketball League Opens With Three Games at Armory

Navy Club, VFW, and Waldo American Legion rolled to easy wins in the Marion County Veterans' League last night at the Armory.

The Navy Club dumped G.I. Post, 47-28, VFW downed Bird-McGinnis, 44-34 and Waldo trounced Co. C, 44-28.

Jim Lawler paced the defending champions to their win over G.I. Post as he dumped in 25 points. Price was high for the losers with 10 points. Larry Leser posted 22 points in leading his VFW teammates to their win. Dick Williams and Howard Gilbert both registered 16 points for Bird-McGinnis. Floyd Wilson hit for 14 points for the Co. C squad while John Ward was high for Waldo with 13.

Last night's games were the first on the regular schedule for the season.

Caledonia took a 13-12 lead in the first period and led at the half, 28-27. Jim Kirk paced the scoring for the losers with 22 markers. Althouse was high for the losers with 14.

The Donians will play host to New Bloomington tomorrow night for a Marion County League game. The tilt originally was set for Nov. 30 but has been set up by mutual agreement between the schools.

Bucks Relaxed, Confident For Game With Michigan

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20—(AP)—A relaxed, confident team.

That's the goal of Coach Woody Hayes in preparing Ohio State's football machine for its clash with Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

To get that kind of team, Hayes says there'll be no heavy contact work in drills this week.

"If they don't know how to block and tackle now, it's too late to begin learning," said he.

And it was the opinion of Hayes and his assistants the victor Saturday in the big game ending the season for both schools, would be the team with the most determination to win.

Scout Esco Sarkkinen, who has gone over the Michigan squad with a fine-tooth comb to find its defects, says the underrated Wolverines will field a powerful, dangerous, team "with the same old Michigan spirit and finesse."

Dropped Five

Michigan has dropped five games thus far this season—by far its worst in many years, and two of the losses have been to Big 10 opponents Illinois and Northwestern. But Sarkkinen thinks season records won't have much to do with the subject when the two teams line up for the game. The old rivalry always brings out the best in both squads.

Woody praised Ohio's defensive players for holding highly rated Illinois to a 0-0 tie last Saturday, calling the defense "tremendous." Hayes said Ohio's defensive unit kept Illini blockers out of the play most of the time, and that not once did the Illini open a hole in the Bucks' defense.

He said he was pleased with the improvement the Bucks have shown in pass defense. And he said Ohio did not set up its defense especially to stop Illinois All-American Johnny Karras, who wound up with a minus 11 yards in gains Saturday.

Attendance Record

At the luncheon, Publicity Director Bill Snypp said Ohio established an all-time six-game home attendance record this year with 455,737 customers. This compared to the 428,406, the previous record set in 1947.

It's doubtful, Snypp said, that Ohio's overall, 9-game attendance record for home and away will be broken, due chiefly to the low attendance at the Pittsburgh game in the Steel City. It estimated total attendance in home and away games this year would fall about 5,000 or 6,000 short of the 642,191 record set in 1949.

Ohio State's team will leave Columbus at 9 a.m. Friday for Toledo, where it will stop overnight at the Hillcrest Hotel before going on to Ann Arbor Saturday morning.

GIRLS SEEK GAMES

Caledonia High School has organized a girls' volleyball team and is attempting to lineup games for the coming season. A school spokesman said the team was booking home or road games.

Vols Retain Rating As Nation's No. 1

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(AP)—Tennessee reclaimed No. 1 position in the Associated Press football poll today, pushing Michigan State back into the runnerup spot.

The Sugar Bowl-bound Volunteers, who meet Kentucky Saturday in one of the top games of the day, received 80 of the 100 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters across the nation.

The Vols won their eighth straight game last week-end, smashing Mississippi, 48-21. Michigan State's Spartans, meanwhile, had a tight squeeze with battered Indiana before prevailing, 20-26.

Tennessee and Michigan State have staged a nip-and-tuck battle for national honors from the very start of the campaign.

Lost Lustre

The Spartans lost some lustre against Indiana and drew 38 first-place votes compared with 55 in the previous poll. They get another chance to impress the experts against Colorado Saturday.

There was no change in the personnel of the top 10, but the order of standings underwent a slight shakeup. Illinois, held to a scoreless tie by Ohio State, was the only member of the elite not to win its game.

The Fighting Illini tumbled from third to sixth place while Stanford and Maryland, impressive winners over formidable rivals, pushed to the front of contention.

Harding Given Another Win By West's Ineligible Player

Harding High School today is boasting a 6-3-1 record for the past grid campaign rather than the 5-4-1 record in effect after last week's finals.

The Ohio High School Board of Control awarded the Frexies a 1-0 decision over Columbus West High School in the opening game after an investigation showed the Cowboys had used an ineligible player. The West crew dumped Harding, 19-7, in the game.

The ruling was reached after a probe by the board showed West's Tommy Thomas had not been eligible to compete this year at West. The grid star transferred to Columbus at the start of the current semester.

BOWLING RESULTS

Leo Oberlander rolled a 224-656 to lead 17 keglers who posted 200's in the Commercial League at the Palace Recreation Center last week. Chamberlain and Rowland with a 235 tied for single game laurels in the Independent Loop while Chamberlain's 622 took series laurels. Jommy Kunkle posted a 247-602 to pace the City League at the Marion alleys. Fannie Wine's 168-446 topped the Ladies' Commercial Circuit. Tom Nolfi with a 205 and Reiff with a 523 led the Erie League while laurels in the Universal Cooler League were captured by Barkley's 206-584. Individual scores follow:

scored three touchdowns and booted two extra points. He wound up the campaign with 15 touchdowns.

Springfield's 9-1 record was its best since 1933 when it was unbeaten . . . and Coach Jim McDonald of the Wildcats played on that one. One of Jim's standouts was Lloyd Young who scored 33 points, all on conversions . . . Lima Central also has a great placekicker in Bob Bassit, 6-2 and 186-pound senior, who has converted 34 of 41.

Bobby Lakes, Hamilton's fine passer who had completed 23 scoring tosses—at least one in each game—was finally halted in the 14-6 win over Middletown. And Jerry Harkrader, who had scored in each of the Middies' games for a 16 total, also was whitewashed.

Massillon's 40-0 win over Canton McKinley was the greatest ever run up by the Tigers over the Bulldogs since the 56-game series started in 1894. It was Massillon's third shutout win in a row over McKinley, and moved the Tigers out in front 26 to 25 in series victories, with five ending in deadlocks.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20 — (AP) — Here's how 35 newspaper and 14 radio sports editors rated Ohio's high school football teams today as they awarded the 1951 state championship to Coach Chuck Mather's Massillon Tigers for the fourth straight year. (First place votes in parentheses, points on 10-9-8-etc basis.)

Kentucky Preps For Vols After Cotton Bowl Bid

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 20—(AP)—Kentucky's acceptance of the Cotton Bowl bid provided a new topic of conversation today for bluegrass football fans.

It didn't take the homefolk long, though, to warm up again to the subject of Saturday's major clash here with Tennessee.

The folk hereabouts, or many of them, had figured Kentucky would have to whip the Volunteers before meriting serious consideration for a major bowl assignment for the third straight year.

Kentucky whipped Oklahoma, 13-7, in the Sugar Bowl last New Year's Day and the year before bowed to Santa Clara, 21-13, in the Orange Bowl.

The Kentuckians accepted the Cotton Bowl bid yesterday immediately after finishing initial preparations for the big clash here Saturday.

Now that the bowl question is settled, the fans are pulling for another chance to spoil an otherwise unblemished season for the visiting Volunteers.

The feat has been accomplished four times since the series began in the Gay Nineties though Kentucky hasn't managed such a trick for 20 years.

Why every car needs HEET

When the Temperature Drops Below 32°

Whenever the temperature drops below 32 degrees, the condensed moisture in every gas tank often forms ice. This causes slow, hard starting and gas-line freeze-ups.

HEET is scientifically engineered to absorb moisture in your gas tank. It prevents gas-line freezing, assures easier winter starting. HEET saves battery, reduces ping and knock, keeps fuel system, carburetor and jets clean, improves engine performance.

Do what millions of wise motorists now do. Have your garage or service station add HEET to your gas tank today—and everytime you buy gas this winter. Only 65¢. HEET Division, DeMert & Dougherty, Inc., Chicago 32.

Lions Club Hears Talk By Dr. Flemming

OWU President And Manpower Chairman Tells of Mobilization

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware and recognized as an expert on government affairs, was guest speaker at the Marion Lions Club weekly luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Harding. He spoke on "The Manpower Aspects of Our Defense Mobilization Program."

As chairman of the manpower policy committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization, which is concerned with policy matter in the manpower field, Dr. Flemming has as his job establishing policies and getting them to the operating agencies to be carried out. He also must fix responsibility, delegate authority and check up to see that the policies are carried out.

Dr. Flemming also serves as chairman of the labor-management committee as he did during World War II.

Better Organized

The speaker told his audience the nation is better organized for defense than at any time during World War II. Speaking of the manpower picture, he related that according to Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson's quarterly report to the President, as far as present defense mobilization is concerned, we have no scarcity of manpower in defense production.

Dr. Flemming pointed out it is Wilson's policy to put defense work where the workers are, thus avoiding serious unemployment problems.

A question often asked, Dr. Flemming told his audience, is "Do you really think we are up against a serious situation for a great period of time?" He answered this by stating "We are up against the most serious threat to our freedom that we have ever been up against as a nation and we will be facing this threat for 10, 15 or maybe 20 years." He urged that we as citizens to make the maximum contribution of which we are able.

Doesn't See Labor Draft

In answering another question, "Do you think we will ever need a labor draft?" Dr. Flemming said "No, because the problems of labor are being met at the community level and the general attitude of the citizen is patriotic and one of willing service."

Dr. Fleming was introduced by Richard Frahst, president of the club.

A letter from Willis Nye, a member of the Marion Lions Club who is doing missionary work in India, was read by James Lytle, and plans were made to send two CARE packages to Mr. Nye. Plans were announced for the annual Lions Club Christmas party to be held Dec. 17 at the Marion Country Club.

Plan Action On Sewage Disposal Plant

A meeting to study the plan of action for starting work on Marion's new sewage disposal plant was held Monday.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson met with Safety Service Director Ralph Forrest and Sanitary Engineer Floyd G. Browne to map plans for asking NPA approval of the sewage plant project. Mayor Robinson said he expects to receive approval of the project by Nov. 28.

The plans for the sewage plant, which were drawn up in 1948, must also be submitted to the State Department of Health for re-approval and any revision that might be necessary, the mayor said.

As soon as NPA approval is received, and the plans approved, then bids for the sewage plant will be advertised.

Orders were reported as ample, with a backlog building up.

Newsprint To Be Declared Essential

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—Newsprint paper will shortly be declared essential, clearing the way for a 250,000 ton expansion of producing capacity in this country, it was reported today.

Arthur R. Treanor, retiring as director of the printing and publishing division of the National Production Authority, said the ruling he has sought for months "undoubtedly will be favorable" and may come this week.

Treanor foresaw a slight improvement ahead in newsprint supply and a probability that it will not be necessary to impose a rationing system like that under which newspapers worked during World War II.

"Newsprint will be critical for a great many years in spite of gradual enlargement of the mill capacity here and in Canada," he said.

England had often been overrun before the Norman conquest of 1066; among the conquerors were the Romans, Saxons, Danes and Norsemen.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(UP)—Stocks declined irregularly at the opening today in moderately active dealings.

Investors continued to display a considerable amount of caution. Some Wall Street quarters felt that the market will move within a very narrow range for some time to come. They point to forthcoming steel wage talks as one of the factors depressing the market.

A few low-priced stocks dominated dealings at the opening.

Benguet Consolidated Mining opened on a block of 7,000 shares at 1⅝, unchanged.

Elsewhere, U.S. Gypsum was a weak spot with a loss of a point to 111½. Other building shares moved irregularly.

Metal stocks dipped slightly. Anaconda on 1,000 shares was down ⅜ to 50⅛. Kennecott Copper eased.

Automotives eased. Steel shares were the same. Utilities were neglected. Rails were quiet and virtually unchanged.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Moral Cowardice

Some instinct tells me that, after the hysteria dies down, "Red Channels," which bears the rather incredible sub-title "The Report of Communist Influence in Radio and Television," will go down in our social history as one of the dizziest phenomena of the post-war period.

Let's look at the record. This small booklet, which lists the names and the supposed Communist-front or leftist affiliations of 151 radio and TV performers, directors, writers and producers, has won the almost universal editorial condemnation of the U. S. press, including such divergent publications as the "New York Herald Tribune," "The New York Times," "Life," "The Washington Post," "The Des Moines Register" and the "Green Bay (Wis.) Press-Gazette."

John Crosby

No sponsor, no advertising agency man and no producer will come to the public defense of "Red Channels" and practically nobody will admit to using it as a blacklist. Its chief editor, Theodore Kirkpatrick (whose official title is secretary-treasurer of American Business Consultants, Inc., which published "Red Channels") is on record as saying, "We've never said the facts in 'Red Channels' were correct or incorrect." Many of the "facts" in the booklet were culled from the Communist "Daily Worker" or other bizarre sources, considering that it is supposed to be violently anti-Communist in nature, and Mr. Kirkpatrick has confessed that no attempt was made to check the allegations.

WHILE NO ATTEMPT has been made to prove the allegations, a great many of them have been pretty thoroughly disproved and the publishers have been up to their hips in libel suits ($2,000,000 worth). The FBI, of which Mr. Kirkpatrick is a former member and whose name his organization freely uses for exploitation, frowns on this practice and has gone to some pains to point out that Mr. K. is just a private citizen with no more access to FBI files than anyone else.

In a recent three-part article in "Sponsor," a magazine whose heart is unmistakably on the side of free enterprise, which forms its editorial content and pays its bills, the techniques of American Business Consultants Inc. were so thoroughly dismantled that it's hard to see how anyone can take "Red Channels" seriously. "It serves at one and the same time as disturber of the peace, prosecuting attorney, judge, jury and detective agency. That is to say it publishes allegations in 'Red Channels,' then follows them up by urging letter writers to put pressure on sponsors in 'Counter-attack,' later holds hearings on the accused in its private offices, and personally solicits sponsors to hire its detective agency 'research service.'"

I COULD GO ON and on, but I haven't space. The plain fact is that "Red Channels," which almost nobody in the business approves of or trusts, is still in the secret library of all the ad agencies, is still at the elbow of casting directors for TV and radio, and has immeasurably damaged the reputations and careers of the people listed in it.

Why? A very interesting though depressing moral problem it is. If the casting directors were genuinely misguided, if they really thought they were serving the cause of anti-communism, if they believed that their refusal to hire certain actors and writers kept subversive thoughts or opinions off the air, if they sincerely thought they were accomplishing anything at all, some case could be made out for them. But they don't.

SHIRT TAILS BARRED

GREENWOOD, S. C. —(UP)— There'll be no shirt tails flying in any court room presided over by Judge J. B. Pruitt. The judge ordered a defendant from the court with instructions to stuff in his shirt tail before returning.

Berean Class Elects Officers

Robert Syster of McMillen Feed Mills, Inc., was guest speaker at a meeting of the Berean Bible Class of Emanuel Lutheran Church Nov. 13 in the church parlors. His topic was "Income Tax." Carl Matson was elected president of the group. Also elected were Lloyd Rehl, vice president; Mrs. Ivan Barnhart, secretary ,and Lloyd Mautz, treasurer.

Several selections were sung by Howard Orr, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Curren. Scripture and prayer were led by Rev. M. E. Hollensen. Plans were discussed for the class' annual Christmas party with the Young People's Missionary Society.

Hosts for the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. James Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. John Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weigler.

SERVICE AT CALEDONIA

Annual Thanksgiving service at Caledonia will be Wednesday night in the Church of Christ. Rev. S. E. Kaetzel of Memorial Methodist Church will speak. The host pastor, Rev. Elmer Sparrow, will preside, and Rev. H. Rowland Prouse of the Church of the Nazarene will offer prayer. Special music will be in charge of the Nazarene congregation. Time of the service will be 7:30.

This farm is one of Madison County's best. It is well fenced, well drained, all under cultivation except 20 acres which has a few scattered oak trees and could be cleared and cultivated. The land has been well cared for, having been limed recently and manured regularly. Soil is nearly all black loam, of best quality and is adaptble to highest yields of corn, wheat, oats, soybeans or forage crops.
IMPROVED with large brick modern home with double garage attached. Good feed type barn and six cow stanchions. Hog barn with concrete floor. Corn cribs and other buildings. A very good water supply which is piped about the farm. This is the kind of farm folks ask for but seldom find for sale at any time.

Russian Yar Now Moscow's Luxury Hotel

MOSCOW—(AP)—The famous Russian Yar, which was the most noted restaurant in Russia before the revolution, has been converted into Moscow's newest luxury hotel.

The historic building, prized for its architecture, has been enlarged and an addition has been built to provide a total of 100 rooms to be used for distinguished guests.

Once the hangout for fabulous Russian millionaires, the Yar was the source of equally fabulous stories which, filtering down among the poverty-stricken masses, may have played an important part in sparking the revolution.

Horses Remembered

One of the most popular stories of the Yar concerned an old Russian millionaire who was throwing a banquet at the lavish restaurant. When his party really got warmed up, the host suddenly was seized with compassion for his horses out in the cold.

He felt that his horses were as good as his guests and decided to bring them in for a feed and a bellyful of champagne.

But the doors of the restaurant were too narrow to accommodate the team and the carriage.

"Bring em in, anyway," the host ordered in effect.

The obliging proprietor quickly corralled workers to break a hole in the wall and the horses dined in the Yar. They were led out through the same gaping hole and the customer paid the bill to have it plastered up.

Opened to Delegates

More recently, in 1947, the Yar figured in international diplomacy. It was placed at the disposal of the delegates to the council of foreign ministers. In a room at the north end of the building, Molitov presided over the conference. Marshall, Bidault and Bevin, accompanied by their staffs of experts and translators were there.

In another part of the building a large bar was set up to serve vodka and champagne to the participants after the parleys. The council used the building for a month.

Now the Yar is called the Sovietskaya, or "Soviet Hotel," and its white marble halls and crystal chandeliers are in view, more or less, by the public.

HUNTERS TAKE NOTE. L. W. Churchill points to one of his cows on which he has painted in large letters C-O-W, as John Roll of New York City, acts the part of a hunter and makes sure he knows he what it is. Churchill hopes hunters won't mistake his cows for deer this season. Last year one trigger-happy nimrod was credited with shooting a goat. Another blew a large hole in a bear skin rug draped over an automobile radiator.

Dobbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dobbins, Mrs. Leo Turner, Mrs. William Howard, Mrs. J. Gerald Schlefer, all of Bucyrus, Mrs. Harry H. Russ, North Robinson.

Buck deer shed their antlers every year but they seldom are found in the woods because small rodents rapidly eat them for their high mineral content.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"Indeed no!" Bess Conway answered me emphatically. "I do not think anybody in the world has the faintest idea about your father's present problem, or a suspicion that he is keeping surveillance over that high official and his son. But that man who rang the elevator bell is one of the three persons in the world, outside my family and your father's organization, who has any suspicion that I am not quite what I appear to be."

She smiled a bit grimly, and went on.

"I thought he was two thousand miles from here, but I find that my information was not correct. If I had known that he was in the offing, I should have disguised myself as the rung of a rocking chair, or something equally hard to detect"—she gave another saffdonic little smile—"and kept to the disguise until he was safely away again. As it is, I must ask you to come with me to my apartment, so that I can do some quick changing as soon as we are through with this shopping arrangement. I must not appear at any of those shops in any disguise."

"I am sure you'll be perfectly safe from any prying eyes at the shops," I told her. "In the first place, nobody will have any chance to see you until you have left the hotel through a basement connecting with a building on another street. We shall leave for the shops at the entrance to the other building, and when we return, we will come back to this apartment by the same route."

A knock on the door put a period to my sentence, and Harry Underwood went to the door, admitting Adams the efficient house detective who has been my father's dependable ally through so many hetic experiences.

"All ready," Adams said, and with a wave of the hand to Lillian, I shepherded Bess and Mildred into the elevator and down to the sub-basement which was so familiar to me, but which the two girls never had seen. We traversed the sub-basement, went through the big doors into the corresponding sub-basement of the next building, and then up to the ground floor, and the entrance to a street a full block away. There Adams, who had accompanied us, after locking the hotel elevator at the sub-basement level, left us and went out into the street, returning with a taxi which he bade wait at the entrance. Then he came back to us, and addressed me.

"You're coming back this way, I take it," he said.

"Yes, we are," I said.

"Any instructions?"

"The usual ones," I said. "Tell Mr. Olsen that I will telephone him naming the time we are going to be back at the hotel. He will understand and have you waiting here at the time I name, and then we will return to our floor in the same manner we came down."

"I will be here on the second," he said, and I gave him a grateful smile.

"I know you will," I told him "You always are."

"Thank you," he said. "And now, if you'll just follow me outside."

He waited at the door a full second, glancing up and down the street with practiced eyes, before he stepped to the street, motioning us to follow him.

"Walk between Mildred and me," I told Bess Conway, "and keep your face averted from the driver as much as possible. I'll give him the directions so he'll remember me, instead of either of you girls."

Between Marion and Springfield

Ohio Edison Adding 69 Miles of New Lines

Ohio Edison Company has under construction 69 miles of new 138,000-volt transmission lines between Marion and Springfield.

The line will run generally south from Marion for about 26 miles to a point near Bellpoint in Delaware County, and then southwest for 43 miles to Springfield. Total cost will exceed $1,500,000.

All the power plants in Ohio Edison's electrical system, with the exception of the Mad River plant in Springfield, are presently tied directly together by a network of lines pouring power into a general pool for use anywhere in the system. The new line will tie the Mad River plant of Ohio Edison Company at Springfield into this network.

Steel towers will be used to support the new three-wire line from the Roberts substation in Marion and from the East Springfield substation in Springfield out to the city limits of the two cities. Between the city limits, H-frame wood poles will support the line.

All materials for construction of the line are already on hand, and it is expected that the work will be completed in the spring of 1952.

Construction of the new Marion-Springfield line is part of the largest building program in Ohio Edison's history. From 1946 through 1950, $131,000,000 has been spent for additional power equipment and other electrical facilities over the Edison system. For 1951 and 1952 an estimated $76,500,000 additional will be required to take care of the increased requirements for electric light and power throughout the area served by the company.

THE ROAD OF LIFE SAVING. Bleeding freely from a head wound, Jacobai Bryant, 27, is given plasma transfusion by Dr. Sidney Finkel on Interboro Parkway at New York after Bryant was injured when his auto went out of control. Dr. Finkel, chief medical resident of Queens General Hospital, was on his way to work when police stopped him at accident scene. He decided Bryant had lost too much blood and ordered plasma which was rushed by ambulance from hospital four miles away and administered as the victim lay in the road. Bryant's condition later was described as satisfactory at a Brooklyn hospital to which he was taken.

New Pastor Is Installed

Taking part in installation services Sunday night for the new pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church, Rev. Floyd E. Kline, were five ministers from throughout the Marion Presbytery and from Columbus.

Moderator of the Presbytery, Rev. Alan O. Jones of Bellefontaine, was in charge. Scripture reading was by Rev. Cecil C. Bailey of Bell Center, and Rev. Henry Teeny of Chesterville offered prayer. Dr. George A. Johnson of Bucyrus gave the sermon, and Rev. Jones conducted the installation ceremony. A "charge to the pastor" was given by Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins of Columbus, general presbyter, and "charge to the congregation" by Dr. Harry G. Finney of Delaware. The choir presented a special anthem.

A spokesman for the congregation expressed today the determination of the church to cooperate fully with the new pastor in all of his work with the anticipation of successful leadership by him. He was well received by the members and the opinion of alll is that the church will go on to new and greater accomplishments. The congregation has been without a pastor since resignation of Rev. David E. Schnable who left here in June to move to Columbus.

The new pastor and his wife came to the Marion church from Napoleon, O., and are now at home in the manse at 160 Kenmore Ave. He will give his first sermon officially as pastor of Forest Lawn Church Wednesday night at a joint Thanksgiving service with First Church of the Brethren in the latter church, and the Forest Lawn choir will sing a special number.

CHURCH CIRCLE MEETS

A meeting of Circle 3 of the Woman's Association of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church was held Thursday night, Nov. 15, at the church community house. Mrs. Agnes Starner conducted devotions. Plans were made for the members to bring Christmas gifts for children, not exceeding a cost of 25 cents each, to the next meeting, Dec. 20, to be given to a James Island missionary. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. E. Stewart and Mrs. A. D. Imbody.

Typically Taft

WHEN Senator Taft's critics heard he was going to write a book about his views on foreign policy, they sharpened their knives. Among his admirers, there were some who wondered if he might be overestimating his ability to make himself so clear he could not be misunderstood.

The usual policy in politics is not to try to make yourself clear at all. But Senator Taft is not the usual kind of politician.

He thinks the people he asks to vote for him should know exactly where he stands on everything. In his public career, he never has pussyfooted. He has made all his friends and all his opponents honestly.

There is an unusual thing about that—the fact that many of his opponents are so thoroughly sold on his integrity they are for him even while they're against him. And in Ohio, where he is known best, some of his most enthusiastic boosters can reel off a half dozen issues on which they disagreed with him violently. Some of these are going to be aired in "A Foreign Policy for Americans."

The American public can rest assured that Senator Taft isn't going to try to hide anything about himself. It's all in the record anyway, his votes for and against every issue that has reached Congress, his speeches for and against everything that has been in public controversy for the last decade.

Sometimes he was wrong; he admits it. More often he was right. Frequently he was in the minority, but always he was politically honest. That has become one of the rarest of all attitudes in public life.

Nothing Illegal

THE speedy resignation by presidential request of the No. 1 official in the Justice Department's tax division hints at a new executive policy.

Mr. Truman has been reported recently to be upset by the numerous scandals popping up in his official family. He apparently has decided to do some firing.

If the President's reaction after an accusation of wrongdoing against Assistant Attorney General T. Lamarr Caudle proves to be typical, many heads may roll in the months to come. In the case of Mr. Caudle, it was made clear by Mr. Truman as well as by Mr. Caudle's accusers that nothing illegal was done. But it was made equally clear that the chief of the tax division of the Department of Justice had violated the ethics of his high position.

The question is asked: who determines what the proper ethics should be?

The answer in this case, as it must be in all cases where the ethics of governing officials is concerned, is that ethics are reflected from the top down. If it becomes known that President Truman will fire every official who uses his government position for selfish gain, there will be sharp and sudden rise in federal morality. If that has been the rule from the beginning, Mr. Truman would not be worrying now.

Just South of the Yalu

FOR the first time in the Korean war, U.S. fighter planes have caught and destroyed enemy jet planes on the ground. Eight Russian-made and presumably Russian-piloted jets were strafed at a base just south of the Yalu River, in North Korea.

As long as all the Russian planes were based north of the Yalu, they were untouchable, because the river is the boundary between Korea and Manchuria. If the planes now are being found on the Korean side of the river it means there has been a change in the air plans of the enemy.

Any change in these plans is likely to be significant, because Korea has become the testing ground for jet planes. The outcome of the tests to date has been to make obsolete the fastest of U.S. bombers using piston-driven engines and to demonstrate that the best jet fighters made in the United States are able to hold their own against Russian jets only because of the skill of American pilots.

Early in the war, Russian-made tanks were proved superior to the best American-made tanks then in existence; the United States was forced to design a better tank. American-made jet planes are not proving to be the world's best, either.

First Move

IF A FURTHER increase in auto prices is made under the Capehart amendment, a further increase in steel wages will be just that much easier to justify. And that, of course, would bring about a further increase in steel prices, thereby justifying further increases in auto prices, which would add steam to the drive to keep wages moving upward.

A fellow wonders what would happen if one or more of some half a dozen men with the authority to make themselves heard with respect would declare that the time had come for someone to give up something—someone, that is, besides consumers who have neither escalator clauses, Capehart amendments or conclusive bargaining power. Even if it had no effect on prices, it would have a tonic effect on morale.

Churchill the Salesman

By Raymond Moley

Favorable Reception Seen for Aid Request

SINCE it can be assumed that Winston Churchill is not planning to brave Atlantic gales for his health, it will be well for Americans to face squarely a new request for aid to Britain. The objection that many Americans have had since 1945 for such aid was reasonable. They said that it was no duty of ours to provide money for the Labor party's experiments in socialism. To take from the wealth of a free, capitalistic economy to help Socialists try to prove that a free economy is bad was indeed an absurd course.

MOLEY

Despite such legitimate objections, we did help, and Attlee's government wasted much of that aid in visionary experiments and blundering administration. We paid dearly not to prove that socialism would work, but to prove that even with outside help socialism would not work.

Now, however, the British people have repudiated socialism and a Conservative government is struggling to repair the damage. We are going to be asked to help in the salvage operation.

When Churchill comes and makes his appeal, it can be assumed that neither he nor President Truman will suggest that the ideological slant of the government has anything to do with the cause. The appeal will be, as it was before, the great importance to us of a strong, healthy Britain. But members of Congress will weigh the request very definitely on the ideological scale. And since a majority of Congress, both Democrats and Republicans, are vastly more sympathetic with the ideals of Churchill's Conservatives, the chances of new aid are very good.

THE CONSERVATIVES can not at once cast off the gratuities of the welfare state. The British people have learned too well to depend upon government. But the announced policies of the new Conservative government show that it is determined, however slowly, to return to a free, productive economy. The essence of those policies is to increase production, to export more, and import less. In short, to give capital-ism another chance.

All the Socialists had to offer was to squeeze the standard of living and to redistribute what little was left of wealth. They were utterly incapable of restoring the wealth that they had destroyed.

The basis of the new program is to increase the production of coal and steel. The United Kingdom has plenty of coal—in the ground. It has been and can be a vast source of new wealth. But since the Socialists nationalized it, production has been so inadequate that even the United Kingdom is unable to get along without importing coal. Literally, they have had to carry coals to Newcastle. This is a dreadful reflection upon the industry.

ALSO, SINCE the threat and then the reality of steel nationalization has confronted that industry, no one either at home or abroad would risk new investments in it. Hence, it has fallen behind.

Generally, there has been a slackening of the work effort with the inevitable Socialist shortening of work hours.

It is clear that the first step in the task of increasing production is to work longer hours. This might be accomplished by an inducement based on taxes. For example, the government might ask the unions to increase the working week from, say, 40 to 44 hours. On the additional pay, the government would levy no tax. This ought to increase production 10 percent. The loss of the additional tax would not hamper the government, because taxes have already reached their limit. And the trouble in Britain is not inadequate home revenues, but inadequate production for export.

With such assurances, the United States might well make a further investment in this troubled neighbor. That patient, once delivered from the delusions of socialism, might again justify our hopes.

Inflation Is for Dopes

By TRUMAN TWILL

MY EMPLOYER has given me a paper covered with figures to reveal the size of the bigger bite taken out of my earnings by the new tax law.

All you have to do is find your theoretical salary in the left-hand column, read across the table until you come to your exemption—and that shows what has been rendered unto Seizer.

What it amounts to is that old Seizer now is getting more for his share than the total old Knucklehead used to keep before the government of the U.S.A. developed an appetite for money. And among us Knuckleheads, it is time to realize what is going on.

First, let it be understood that a bona fide Knucklehead is a member of that numerous clan whose livelihoods are gained in the form of salaries determined by the circumstances of competition. In other words, the salary is no higher than it has to be to keep the job filled; it is not forced beyond its natural competitive level by any artificial means. So much for the salary method of livelihood. Millions of Americans know how it works.

There is nothing they can do about it except grin and bear it. They are the fall guys right now for everybody else who has given up grinning and bearing for the duration. Or to state the matter bluntly, the clergyman whose household is gumming along on macaroni and darned little cheese is buying the meat for the fellow who has learned how to get what he wants and isn't squeamish about getting it.

You can look at this way, if you'd rather not consider the case of clergymen. Anyone who was working on a salary in 1939 and dreaming of the day when he might be earning as much as $60 a week, which would be enough to make ends meet, would have to be earning $125 a week in 1952 just to be as well off as he was then.

It's obvious that someone must pay for the fantastic cost of World War II and the preparations for World War III. It is obvious that the United States cannot have war production and eat it too. The heaviest burden of payment is falling on the G.I.'s who are giving up something more valuable than buying power.

There is no equality of sacrifice; that is out of the question. Someone always gets clipped, while others get off scot-free. Some are put through the wringer, while others stand by with buckets to catch the drippings. It always has been that way. But it's no easier to bear for that reason.

Anyone who fails to realize that the upshot of World War II and preparations for World War III so far has been to push the salaried citizens of the United States to the brink of extinction is closing his eyes to what may be the greatest single consequence of 20th century upheaval in the United States.

Perhaps the retainers had outlived their welcome and their usefulness. Maybe it was time for them to go down the drain with the dishwater. They? Them? You and I, junior and everybody else whose savings and prospects of economic increase have been sacrificed to the new economic credo that loss of buying power is only for dopes without escalator clauses.

Congress Quiz

Q—Can veterans of the Korean war buy homes with G.I. financing?

A—Yes, since Congress passed and the President signed Oct. 26 a bill extending to Korean war veterans all housing privileges granted to other former servicemen.

Q—What's the final score on the 1951 session of Congress—how many laws did it make?

A—Bills which became public law totaled 255. Private laws totaled 411. Two of the public laws originally were vetoed by the President, but his veto was overridden by Congress. Eleven other bills—eight of them private ones—were vetoed and the vetoes stood. Four of these were pocket vetoes.

Holiday Fashion Note

The Rights of Frank Sinatra

By George E. Sokolsky

EVERY AMERICAN is entitled to the privacy of his own life, if he craves it. Frank Sinatra apparently craves it. He dislikes newspaper publicity. He resents being photographed with or without his wife. He literally hates newspaper photographers, calls them foul names, and threatens cameras. He prides himself on his physical prowess.

SOKOLSKY

Earl Wilson, the columnist, reports that Mrs. Sinatra, formerly known as Ava Gardner, told him:

"Frank's had this for years. He's very ingenious at lousing up newspapermen now. He has one idea. He wants to stick chewing gum in some camera. Instead of a picture, they will get a big blob of gum."

He could be arrested in some states for mayhem on cameras, but surely that does not matter to a Sinatra in search of privacy.

When a man resents having his picture taken, it should not be taken. Suppose Frank Sinatra's picture never appeared in any newspaper in the United States; suppose not one were ever published about him or his singing or his escapades, or his divorce or marriage, would it be like an earthquake or a tidal wave or maybe an atom bomb falling upon millions? If the name, Sinatra, never appeared in a single newspaper, would the world sink back into Stygian blackness?

YET, METHINKS he ought to have his way. If instead of newspaper cameramen struggling through crowds to snap a picture of Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner, they avoided both of them, saved their film for some serious purpose—would the reading public really miss something?

If such a course were followed say for six months, Sinatra would have his wish. He would enjoy complete privacy. Nobody would know he exists.

Surely a man is entitled to oblivion if he wants to live that way. Sinatra could then sing to himself, if that is what he believes he does. He could also sing to his wife, and nobody would know about it. Because this is true about him and many others: If the newspapers were to omit them, the public surely would forget them.

SOMETIMES, I WONDER why newspaper photographers are so courteous? They are engaged in a very important reportorial function, namely, they provide a graphic presentation of the news. Often, their photographs are a more accurate and more understandable account of an incident than other reports that are written. They have to be intelligent workers or the camera would foul them up badly.

The camera-reporters, if I may coin a phrase, the news reporters and the columnists take such a person as Frank Sinatra and give him a build-up because for some reason it is a habit in this business to assume that the public is vitally interested in what actors do even if they spit in the eye of a lady reporter.

When these theatrical folk are on the make, they curry favor and seek notices and hire publicity men to spread interesting and exciting tales about them, true or untrue. Then they often try the gag of seeking privacy, which some believe is of human interest.

I WAS TOLD of an actress who was so dumb her agent feared that if she spoke anything but line written for her by an author, she would be a sure giveaway. So they told her to be natural and say nothing. For some reason, her refusal to speak became a newsworthy item and was so widely publicized that it became her trademark.

It seems to me sound that Frank Sinatra's trademark ought to be that he wants to avoid the public eye. If that is what he wants, he should be kept out of the public eye permanently. It would be mutually beneficial; he would have his privacy; the newspapers would save expensive newsprint; the photographers would save costly film and light bulbs and everybody would be happy.

Perhaps the day might come when Frank Sinatra would like to be remembered. He could accomplish that by beating up a reporter or he might in some manner humiliate a woman reporter. However, it is possible that by then, even such antics on his part would no longer attract attention because the practitioner of them would be so obscure.

This therapy might be tried on others who forget that no newspaperman, whether a camera reporter or a word reporter, enjoys chasing after a crumb. He only does it because it seems, for some reason, to be his duty.

Genius of The Handicapped

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

MISS GRETTA GRIFFIS could not see the audience she addressed and they couldn't hear her. Miss Griffis is blind. The young people to whom she talked are deaf.

A staff worker for the Family and Child Services here, Miss Griffis was describing her work with the sightless to students of Gallaudet College. The only college in the world for the deaf, it was established in 1864 by an act of Congress which President Lincoln signed.

As Miss Griffis, an attractive young brunette with sensitive face, talked, her words were interpreted in sign language by Dean Elizabeth Benson, the college's dean of women, who is the daughter of deaf parents. Miss Griffis has been totally blind for the last 14 years.

During the war she had worked in an aircraft plant. She liked to talk as she worked, she said, and the plant foreman, knowing this, surrounded her with three women co-workers who were deaf.

"I couldn't read what they wrote on a pad and I couldn't write back," she said. "There was no bridge of communication between us so I learned the sign language." She communicates with the blind and reads and studies by using the Braille system, which she says is to the blind what the manuel alphabet is to the deaf.

Miss Griffis has degrees from McPherson College in Kansas, from the University of Chicago, and Washington University at St. Louis. She lives alone in an apartment for which she chose all the furnishings and made the drapes. She taught her own mother Braille in a Red Cross class so she could correspond with her.

"I try to help a person who has lost his sight to live in a world of seeing, to help him find gadgets and aids to show him the way around in his blindness," she said.

She also teaches the sightless how to do things, either for pastime, or to help bring in an income. She is able to prepare some of them for work outside their homes in business or industry.

Miss Griffis told her audience that vocationally, the deaf are better off than the blind, that the limitations to the blind are much greater. Socially, however, she said the blind seem to be at better advantage.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The importation of draft stallions from France and England was a thriving business in the 1860's and for some time thereafter. The Marion County Importing Company made it a rule, in purchase of horses, to get the best stallions, regardless of cost. The average price at which these animals were sold was nearly $3,000 each. The horses were distributed through Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Iowa.

Daily Bible Thought

That is what the human heart is always saying, but we cannot fly away from ourselves. Our own memories. We must store up happier memories. "Oh that I had the wings of a dove, for then would I fly away and be at rest." —Ps. 6:6.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"For It's Always Fair Weather"

The Attorney General of New York has ruled that the United Nations is not bound by state liquor laws. "State laws should not interfere with the enjoyment of the privileges necessary to the fulfillment of the organization's purposes," says the verdict. Well, this will at least prevent the application of a veto to "Let's have a drink."

PHILLIPS

"What'll you have?" may now be asked without any violation of procedural rules and the answer "Make mine the same" may be given regardless of Malik, Gromyko or state liquor authorities. This is probably just as well. The cause of better understandings has often been advanced by "How Dry I Am!" Global peace should not be hampered by "Sweet Adeline" and "Down By The Old Millstream" openly rendered by quartettes openly arrived at.

* * *

The decision that a drink is necessary to the fulfillment of U.N.'s purposes is history-making and will cause much eyebrow raising. Nevertheless drinking is international, can be done without consecutive translations, needs no agenda and is not even opposed by Moscow as a device of warmongering capitalists. Cocktail bars are a part of the new East River home and the fluttering of the dove's wings are at times coordinated to the rhythm of the ice in a cocktail shaker. Peace could be hampered rather than advanced by the necessity to explain to the British, the French, the Persians, Egyptians and Saudi Arabians just why they couldn't have a drink at any given time. We suspect the whole issue was raised by Malik, anyhow, to cause more trouble, and that the Attorney General has circumvented him. Clearly the ruling recognizes and accepts the bartender and the waiter as important factors in the search for better understandings. They can contribute much toward the day when all sessions of peace makers can be opened with "Dear Old Pal of Mine" and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." There has been too much emphasis on striped pants and not enough on ice cubes; too much attention paid to oil and not enough to the dry martini. The right proportion of bitters to an old-fashioned cocktail can make or break a conference on a vital issue.

We asked Mervin the U.N. Mouse about it. "I think few things have done more to raise hopes for world peace," he said. (Mervin, you will recall, was discovered in the all steel and stone skyscraper, causing quite a mystery.) "I got into the joint in a case of cheese consigned to one of the cocktail bars," he admitted today. "Believe me I have roamed all over the place, listening to the delegates under all conditions. The only place where they seem peacefuly inclined and don't scare the hell out of me is AT THE BAR!"

THE opening of the Metropolitan Opera for the first time in three years was not telecast. . . . Sponsors withdrew, perhaps, after finding there was no way to spell "Aida" backwards and have it spell a gasoline, a cigaret or a razor blade. . . . Sherry's favorite "Met" bar has been enlarged into a complete restaurant so opera fans may get complete dinners there. . . . And we just heard of an ex-opera star who dines there and carries his own claque so he can be applauded while eating. . . . We submit for the "Why Review Readers Go Mad" department the following on "Paint Your Wagon"! . . . "Lyrics and book are without much embellishment in the way of wit or sentiment. 'Paint Your Wagon' is filled with talented people but a lot of the time they have to get out and push."—Walter Kerr.

Food Cutouts Interesting To Young Cutups

CRANBERRY - ORANGE SPREAD

ALL children are "cutups" so why not make the most of it. Nothing adds as much interest and variety to their meals as something delicious, something clever, and something satisfying. And if they can help cut up, so much the better.

This idea to add to your bag of tricks for the holiday season calls for cutout little turkeys, which can be made from French toast by using a turkey shaped cookie cutter before dipping the bread into the egg mixture. Serve with it this unusual and delicious cranberry - orange spread and you'll find it can't be topped for enjoyment.

CRANBERRY-ORANGE SPREAD

1 cup fresh cranberries,
1/3 cup orange juice
3 T lemon juice.
Peel of ½ orange, cut in pieces
¾ cup soft table margarine
1 cup sugar

Place cranberries, fruit juices and rind in electric blender container. Blend 2 minutes. Scrape down sides. Add margarine and sugar. Blend until smooth, about 2 minutes, scraping down sides of container at frequent intervals. Refrigerate before serving.

Note: If you do not have a blender, put cranberries and rind through meat - chopper, using coarse blade. Stir in fruit juices. Cream together sugar and margarine. Blend with cranberry mixture in electric mixer.

Social Affairs

A DINNER DANCE AT THE Marion Country Club Saturday evening opened the fall and winter season for the Marion Shrine Club. More than 100 members and their wives were seated at tables decorated with bouquets of colorful chrysanthemums and glowing candles. The dance was one of a series of social events planned for the season.

Marion Garden Center Notes

PLANT YOURSELF A VIEW

Sure it's wonderful to look out at a mountain, a lake, but wherever you live, you can have a view. All you need do is look through your favorite windows, then figure how to build a view with trees or shrubs or flowers—especially flowers.

If your living room window looks smack into a neighboring house or building, build your view close to the window. A window box, a shelf of plants or a bed of bright flowers will bring beauty right into the room, and shut out what's beyond. So will a built-up garden corner.

If your windows look out into a garden and then beyond to a busy street or a vacant lot, the best solution is to carry the eye into the garden. Flower beds and borders will do the trick. If your window looks off into the distance, it is a good idea to break the space with a pool, a flower bed, or a grouping of garden furniture. If it looks into a clump of trees, the answer is to trim out enough branches to suggest glimpses of sky beyond.

Miss Kollin Bride In Wedding At Shaker Heights

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH in Shaker Heights was the scene of the wedding of Miss Hermine Kollin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Kollin of 1960 Seminole Rd., Euclid, O., and Charles Raymond Wirthlin Jr., of Cincinnati, Saturday, Nov. 3. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Grant E. Mouser of 539 Church St., and the late Judge Mouser. Mr. Wirthlin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Wirthlin of Cincinnati.

Rev. Arthur J. Rantz, rector of the Church of the Ephipiny in Euclid, officiated for the candlelight ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Acacia Country Club.

The bride's dress of heavy white satin was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, gathered bodice and full train. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a heart-shaped tiara of Brussel's rose point lace and her wedding bouquet of white orchids and orange blossoms was carried on her Prayer Book.

Frock of nylon tulle in varied autumn shades were worn by the attendants. Mrs. Susan Lang of Beloit, Wis., was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Lois Johnson of Milwaukee, Miss Ruth Weir, Miss Betty Ege and Miss Ann Cutler of Cleveland. They wore headdresses of chrysanthemums and snapdragons and carried matching bouquets.

Robert McRae of Detroit served as best man for Mr. Wirthlin and ushers were William Burleigh of Louisville, Ky., Richard Hain, William Rohrscheib and John Wirthlin of Cincinnati.

The entrance hall and lounge of the club was decorated with chrysanthemums, snapdragons, smilax and ferns. Large bells of chrysanthemums were over the buffet table which was roped off with the same flowers. A circlet of gardenias was at the base of the wedding cake Music for the reception was by a string ensemble.

After a wedding trip to New York City and Quebec the couple will make their home in Akron.

The bride was graduated from Wisconsin University, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. Mr. Wirthlin is an alumnus of Cincinnati University and is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity.

Reds' New Embassy Building Makes Pikers of Capitalists

RUSSIA'S NEW embassy building in East Berlin.

BERLIN—(AP)—The swankiest layout in East Germany is the new Russian embassy on Unter den Linden in the Soviet sector of Berlin.

The block-long pile of granite will house the Soviet staff "accredited" to the Communist government of East Germany.

The huge, grim-looking structure is four times the size of the pre-war ministry. Details of its construction, the cost and who is going to pay for it, are carefully guarded by the Red NKVD (secret police).

Thousands of Germans have been working on the embassy for almost four years but none of them ever laid so much as one stone upon another without being scrupulously observed by Soviet army engineers. Until a little less than a year ago, the entire area was hidden behind a board fence and the streets being scrupulously observed by the public.

Despite all that, some information leaked out. The floors downstairs are marble with finely pictured design. Above, the floors are made of the finest German parquet wood, inlaid and carved with filigree work. Few pre-war millionaires, observers say, have ever possessed such floors.

The masterpiece is the ballroom, calculated to absorb several thousand guests. Crystal eye-drop chandeliers stretch the length of the ballroom. The kitchens, which will be called upon to serve the well-known suppers the Russians love, are already completely equipped.

FORMER PLAYER DIES

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20—(AP)—Christian Ernst Heismann, former Cincinnati Reds ballplayer, died at Good Samaritan Hospital yesterday. He was admitted to the hospital Saturday after suffering a stroke at his home. Heismann, 71, later became a grocery store operator. He began his career as a pitcher with the Cincinnati Shamrocks, a leading semi-professional baseball team in this area in the early 1900's.

Club Hears Ohio Supreme Court Judge

C. B. Zimmerman On Dinner Program Of Presbyterian Men

Judge Charles B. Zimmerman of the Ohio Supreme Court was guest speaker Monday night for the November meeting of the Presbyterian Church.

In speaking on "religious Freedom and the Law," Judge Zimmerman declared that freedom of religious worship is guaranteed by the federal and Ohio constitutions, as well as by statutory law and rulings of various courts.

Two Concepts

He told the group that the question of religious freedom, as provided for legally, can be summed up in two concepts: 1. The freedom to believe or not to believe, and 2. The freedom to act in accordance with one's belief or nonbelief. He pointed out that the first concept is absolute, without restriction or limitation, while the second is necessarily subject to regulation and control, in that no man can be permitted to take action that might interfere with the beliefs of others or endanger the safety and welfare of the nation.

The speaker mentioned several religious issues, referring particularly to the controversy concerning the reading of the Bible in public schools. He said the decisions of courts are divided on the question.

Judge Zimmerman was introduced by Ted Mitchell, chairman of the club's program committee, who was formerly employed as a member of the staff of the Ohio Supreme Court and has known the judge for many years.

Mr. Mitchell was installed as president of the organization by the Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Also installed were C. W. Coffman, first vice president; Tom Pake, second vice president; Gene Hudson, secretary, and Ralph Howard, treasurer.

The program opened with group singing led by L. G. Jones and accompanied by Richard Myers at the piano. Rev. Olewiler led opening and closing prayer. Delmar Hamilton, retiring president, conducted the meeting.

A dinner was served preceding the meeting by the Women's Society of the church. About 60 members of the club were present.

How to make old roads seem NEW

PICK a road that you know by heart. Not too good a road. One that has some bumps—some unbanked turns—a tough hill or two.

Then get in touch with us, and let us put you behind the wheel of a Buick, with Dynaflow Drive.*

Now you're all set for a new experience. You'll find out this:

Those bumps seem to lose their bobble. You just take them with a smooth and level stride.

Those unbanked turns don't seem so sharp, and those hills seem almost to flatten out.

How come? Well, a lot of things are different when you travel in a Buick.

You're riding on big, soft coil springs that let every wheel dance beneath you, without passing on the jolts to you in the car.

You're driving a car that's plenty inches broader than it is high—a sure-footed road-hugger if there ever was one.

And you're riding behind a Fireball Engine—Buick's time-tested version of a high-compression valve-in-head—an engine that packs more power than most people ever need to use.

With this power—and Dynaflow Drive*—you don't have to "rush" a hill at the bottom to soar serenely over the top. You just feed the power as you need it—climb with a sure, steady swoop without buck or bobble all the way up.

There's a lot more that we could tell you about a Buick. But such things as room, and comfort, the confident way it steers, and the way it shortens the miles are things you can best discover from personal experience.

So why not follow the routine already suggested? You supply the road—we'll supply the car—and let it speak for itself.
